Peace warrants were issued in municipal court Monday morning for J. E. Fincher, Emory student; "Pup" McWhorter and Claire Frye, Tech football stars, and Henry Lyons, young clubman, at the instance of Carl Davis, who charges that the four men forcibly took him from the Y. M. C. A. early Saturday morning and after severely beating him, forced him to kneel in apology before a prominent society girl for an alleged insult and instructed him to leave Georgia before March 1.

The warrants had not been served early this morning and at Fulton tower it was stated that they would probably be served some time today. It is understood that deputy marshals of the court had endeavored several hours to locate the defendants. Hearing will not be set until the young men have been served with warrants.

Davis is Silent.

Davis and his attorney, Horace Sandiford, declined to discuss the warrants Monday night.

The four alleged assailants of Davis are already under $200 bond each for appearance in police court next Saturday morning to answer charges of disorderly conduct preferred on complaint of Davis.

It had been reported Saturday that Davis was contemplating taking out peace warrants against his alleged assailants, but on advice of his attorney he did not do so until Monday morning.

Davis reported to the police Saturday morning that after attending a dance of the college set at Garber hall he returned to his room at the Y. M. C. A. before he retired, he said, he was summoned to the lobby, where he was met by Frye, McWhorter, Fincher and Lyons, who accused him of insulting a young woman during the dance.

According to Davis, he was innocent of the charge but was forced to kneel before the girl at her residence and apologize for the alleged insult. He is said to have admitted that during the dance he gave vent to an oath, but that it was not directed at the young woman in question.

Man, Believed Victim of Fire, Placed in Jail

Knoxville, Tenn., February 26.—Gienn B. Mayes, president of the Campbell County Coal company, given up as murdered when a charred and mutilated torso identified as his was found in the ruins of his cabin in the remote recesses of Campbell county August 25, 1921, was a prisoner at the Knox county jail tonight charged with forgery.

Under a grass grown mound in a local cemetery repose the remains of the mass of flesh and bones buried as those of Mr. Mayes on August 25, 1921, due and proper funeral services having been conducted at the late home of the deceased on the day in question with well known coal operators of this territory having served as pallbearers.

Arrest and return of the former mine operator to Knoxville was preceded two days by the re-marriage of his wife to a resident of this city last Saturday. Tonight she denied knowledge that Mayes was alive, declaring that she had been assured that he was dead, "had attended his funeral and mourned him as lost."

Washington, February 26.—Farm credits legislation, over which there has been a row in congress for more than two weeks, is to be taken up tomorrow in the house under plans contemplating a vote not later than Wednesday. Passage by the house was forecast by leaders who believed there would be comparatively little difficulty in adjusting the differences with the senate.

Major provisions of the two senate measures, the Lenroot-Anderson and Capper bills, are incorporated in the bill as reported from the house banking committee. The formal report on the legislation was delayed by Chairman McFadden issued a statement explaining its principal purposes.

"This legislation is an endeavor on the part of congress," Mr. McFadden said, "to enact a law that will provide intermediary credits for the agricultural interests of the United States, and by agricultural interests is meant all those people who are engaged in the production of agricultural products, including the warehousing and orderly marketing organizations."

Twelve Credit Banks.

"Specifically, this bill provides for the creation of 12 distinct intermediate credit banks, which are to be managed and in the control of the federal farm loan board. Each is to have a capital of $5,000,000, or a total of $60,000,000, which is to be subscribed by the secretary of the treasury and the stock is to become the property of the United States. Provision also is made for the creation of corporations with a minimum capitalization of $250,000 to deal in agricultural paper having a maturity of 6 months or more, and a further provision for the organization of re-discount corporations with a capital of $1,000,000 or more to rediscount such paper for the loaning corporations. The intermediate credit banks can issue debentures up to $500,000,000 in addition to their capital stock of $500,000,000. It will be noted in this respect that this intermediary credit institution provides capital for agricultural interests almost double of the amount that was called for during the operations of the war finance corporation."

Government Reimbursement.

"Provision is made for the reimbursement of the government by the application of one-half of the net annual earnings of the banks to the government should it be fully reimbursed for its capital stock; while still owning the banks with the same original capital and a surplus of 100 per cent. After this has been accomplished, the bill provides that 10 per cent of the net earnings go annually to the surplus and the residue to the federal government."

"All in all the bill is an honest attempt to provide all necessary credits which the agricultural interests of the country claim to be in need of. At the same time it has been the honest intent of the framers of the bill to safeguard the provisions of the institutions in their operations that the least possible harm could come to the institutions created and the greatest amount of good to those who are to be served."

World's Champion Soldier of Fortune LEDBETTER TELLS HAIR-RAISING TALE OF ADVENTUROUS LIFE Comes Home to Atlanta to Win Legacy

London, E. W. England, December 5, 1912.—
To Manuel Duke Ledbetter, Seattle, Washington, U.S.A.
Dear Manuel, I take the pleasure of my life in dropping you this information which was sent to me by your letter from San Francisco to me in Alaska in regard to my will to you. It was written on the day of our Lord February, the 25, 1911. That you will inherit $300,000 at my death. I am now 73 years born in Atlanta, Ga., in 1849. It was written as you know, you should make your home in the State of Georgia and that you will give to the Church of Atlanta $10,000 and 10,000 to the orphan home, 5,000 to the old Soldiers Home, and it is written that unless you do this you will only inherit $100,000. It is written that if you carry out my wishes a portion can be considered of this at different intervals. I am willing to submit to your future according to the deeds for your own good. I am going to put my last days in Atlanta, as my father and mother sleep there. I was very glad to receive your photo. It looks just like you that it has been a long time since your last struggle for me back in 1910, when you stood between my and death. I very love that day will never be forgotten. I often wonder how you did it.

Upper left: Manuel Duke Ledbetter, Atlantan, in the costume he wore during the days when he lived in the ranching and mining centers of the southwest. Upper right: Ledbetter shaking hands with Judge D. A. Walker, a native Georgian, son of Dawson A. Walker, of Dalton, former justice of the state supreme court. Judge Walker presided at Ledbetter's trial for murder in 1910. The above picture was taken a few weeks ago in Seattle, Wash., where the two met after many years of divergent trails. Bottom: Facsimile of part of letter, written by Colonel Joe Eadards from London, England, in which he tells Ledbetter of the $300,000 he has bequeathed him as a reward for saving his life in 1910, when a pack of angry Mexicans attacked Colonel and Mrs. Eadards. Colonel Eadards is also a native Atlantan.

Miss Lillian Owens, aged 23, of 23 East avenue, Kirkwood; Miss Lulu Chestnut, aged 26, of 33 Metropolitan avenue, Kirkwood, and Willis Ferri, 61-year-old planter of Carrollton road, were at Grady hospital Monday night in a serious condition as the result of two automobile accidents.

Lloyd Holcomb, 23-year-old, jitney driver of 119 Logan street, was held at police station without bond, charged with reckless driving, following his arrest by Sergeant R. J. Brown and Patrolman J. F. Welch after his machine struck the two young women as they were crossing Prior street at Hunter street about 6:30 o'clock Monday evening.

Ferri was knocked down on Peters street.

Anglo-American Action in Ruhr Situation Seen

Countries Have Informal Understanding, Say London Reports.

BY RALPH H. TURNER.

United News Staff Correspondent.

London, February 26.—Anglo-American intervention in the Ruhr is inevitable, according to views in semi-official circles.

It is generally believed that there is an informal understanding between the United States and Great Britain that a conference, designed to settle the world's debt entanglements will be called as soon as France and Germany become convinced of the folly of their present course.

The recent statements of Premier Bonar Law and George Harvey, American ambassador to Britain, are considered significant. The prime minister predicts that the United States will enter into a European conference, while Harvey has gone on record as saying that his nation can

Some fellows have all the luck. This is a story about Manuel Duke Ledbetter, Georgian, and if you don't concede he is the luckiest man in all the world, when you have read it, you don't know luck when you meet it, that's all.

Ledbetter told the story himself, sitting in the parlor of the home on Anniston avenue, where he is now staying with his brother-in-law, B. B. Jones. It is told here, just as he gave it.

It is the story of three Georgians who met in wild and lurid surroundings, out in far Colorado, in the days when the best life insurance in the world was a pair of hair-trigger guns in holsters strapped to the hips, and the ability to shoot with either hand quickly.

$3,500,000 HOTEL
WILL BE ERECTED ON HARRIS STREET

12-Story Structure on Harris-Peachtree Corner to Be Biggest Southern Commercial Hostelry.

Plans for early erection in the downtown section of a $3,500,000, twelve-story commercial hotel—which will be the largest of its kind in the entire south—were announced Monday by the James L. Logan Real Estate Agency.

Mr. Logan, who is handling all matters in connection with the financing and leasing of the new hotel building, stated that the handsome structure will be located on the southwest corner of Peachtree and Harris streets and will have 500 guest rooms.

According to Mr. Logan, this will make it larger than any commercial hotel south of the Mason and Dixon line. A tract 400 by 100 feet in dimension on Peachtree and Harris streets is under control of the Logan agency pending definite completion of the hotel deal, and use of this lot will make it possible for the new hotel to front on both Peachtree and Harris streets.

Atlanta Capital Involved.

The new hotel building, it is announced, will be given its initial start with the aid of Atlanta capital. A well known local capitalist, Mr. Logan stated, will apply a considerable sum to the project, after which it is expected that a bond issue will be negotiated to supply additional necessary funds.

The structure will have its main entrances on West Harris street and will be directly opposite the Capital City club. In addition, erection of a handsome bachelor apartment recently announced by the Logan agency will complete a trio of beautiful buildings in the immediate neighborhood of the Peachtree and Harris intersection.

Type of construction of the new building, it is stated, will be made to conform to that of the Capital City club, and it is now believed that cream face brick will be chosen.

"The deal for this new hotel, which will be the largest of the commercial type in the entire south," Mr. Logan said Monday, "is now practically complete. That it will be one of the very handiwork of all southern hotels goes without saying, and its erection in Atlanta means a great deal for a city that is developing and growing with such rapid strides."

Ideal Location.

"The location of the new hotel will be an ideal one. It will not be directly in the congested area downtown, but at the same time will be so conveniently central that it will afford immediate access to any business house in Atlanta."

"The Spring street viaduct will afford a direct route from the Terminal station, and the steady growth northward of Atlanta will constantly increase the desirability of its location."

Mr. Logan declared that there is now a real need for another big commercial hotel in Atlanta in order to take care of the stream of tourists, business men, travelling salesmen and transients of all kinds whose numbers are daily growing greater in this city. The new hotel building will be

Publicity Expenses of Anti-Saloon League Cause Demand for Indictment of William Anderson.

JURY PROBES CHARGE OF GRAND LARCENY

Pecora Says He Was Obligated to Take Step Because Anderson Refused to Explain Expenditure.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, February 26.—Acting District Attorney Pecora today went before the grand jury with the request that William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, be indicted on a charge of grand larceny, and presented as his first witnesses, the Rev. Dr. George Caleb Moor, secretary, and Bertram H. Fancher, treasurer of the league.

After Dr. Moor's testimony had been heard, Mr. Pecora presented as evidence the books of the league. With the completion of Mr. Fancher's testimony, the grand jury adjourned until tomorrow when Miss Maude M. O'Dell, confidential secretary to Mr. Anderson, and Miss Mary Hill, assistant treasurer of the league, will be heard.

Mr. Pecora, before entering the jury room, declared it was imperative that the Rev. Dr. David James Burrell, president of the league, appear before the grand jury to explain certain aspects of the league's financial relations with Anderson.

He said Edgar T. Brackett, counsel to Anderson, had notified him that the aged clergyman was too ill to appear today. Mr. Brackett promised, he said, to confer with Dr. Burrell's physician, and to ascertain whether it would not be possible for Dr. Burrell to come before the grand jury for a short period.

Mr. Pecora said his request for an indictment charging the state superintendent with grand larceny would be based on disposition of $24,700 which the dry leader said had been used for publicity purposes.

Mr. Pecora said he had not desired to bring the case before the grand jury, but had been forced to do so because of Mr. Anderson's refusal to make any explanation of his expenditure.

Mr. Anderson, having refused to waive immunity, will not appear before the grand jury, Mr. Pecora said.

Harry Poole, Jr., Seeking Divorce From Bride of 40

Charging that his wife, Mrs. Mary Claire Conover Poole, has been habitually drunk and has treated him cruelly since their marriage in New York on December 1, 1922, Harry G. Poole, Jr., 136 E. 12th street, Atlanta, business man, filed suit for divorce Monday in Fulton superior court.

At the time of the marriage, he asserts in his petition, the bride was about 40 years of age.

The divorce petition was filed by Poole through his father as his "next friend." He is represented by Attorneys Bryan and Middlebrooks.

Poole declares that the marriage occurred when he was a student at a preparatory school in New Jersey.

ROGERS' STORES

You will see in a number of Rogers' Stores for a few days this pretty display of

Sealdsweet Grapefruit and Oranges

This display is good to look at—but it is better to know how to prepare these delicious fruits.

SEALDSWEET BRANDS are unquestionably the finest you can select—the choicest fruits on the market.

DAILY DEMONSTRATIONS

Beginning today (Tuesday) and lasting throughout this week, Mrs. Caroline Moorhead, fruit specialist, of the educational department of the Florida Citrus Exchange, a lady who has been engaged in fruit demonstration work for years, will supervise demonstrations in a number of Rogers' Stores.

These demonstrations will feature especially the many serviceable as well as economical and dainty uses of grapefruit

Mrs. Moorhead, through her crew of demonstrators, will show to the housekeepers of Atlanta how easy and practical it is to make a large number of —How to make cake decorations and embellishments with Sealdsweet Grapefruit—and will show in many other ways how elegantly and deliciously grapefruit can be served.

DEMONSTRATIONS TODAY

All day today (Tuesday) at 113 Whitehall St., demonstrations will be held.

During the afternoon from 2 o'clock until 6, demonstrations will also be held at 503 Peachtree street.

ON WEDNESDAY

Demonstrations will be held throughout the day at 810 Peachtree, 823 Peachtree, 301 Ponce de Leon Ave. and 487 Ponce de Leon Ave. Announcements made later for other stores.

Housewives of Atlanta and the public generally are invited to visit these demonstrations and learn for themselves the value and excellence, and how economical grapefruit can be served.

At the Cooking School

In addition to her demonstrations in Rogers stores, Mrs. Moorhead, by invitation of Mrs. Dull, will give a special Sealdsweet Grapefruit demonstration at the Woman's Club Cooking School on WEDNESDAY morning at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Moorhead will not only demonstrate how elegantly salads can be made from grapefruit, but will give a brief and interesting talk on the food value of all kinds of good fruit.

not stay out of continental affairs despite the fact that it may so desire.

Inopportune Now.
Intervention, at this time, however, in the opinion of members of the British government, would be inopportune, resulting, in all likelihood, in a flat rejection by France and Germany. Furthermore, England does not wish to antagonize France.

Any conference which may be held, it is agreed, must be as participants both France and Germany.

There is some discussion here that President Harding, when he recommended to the United States senate American participation in The Hague international court, had in mind the eventual settlement of the Ruhr embroglio.

Not Taken Seriously.
London, February 26.—(By the Associated Press).—The Evening Star says official circles do not "take seriously" Ambassador Harvey's remarks at the dinner of the London Press Club Saturday night.

A government spokesman said the ambassador's utterances were not taken as indicating the possibility of American intervention in the Ruhr and reparations questions but were highly important as showing the beneficial effect of the debt funding agreement.

In his speech Ambassador Harvey was quoted as saying: "I have a real, plain, simple desire to do everything I can and everything my country can, to help this empire in the terrible distress she is in—to help her out of the mess that she has got to get out of, and there is no limit I would not go to and my people would not go, now that the wretched debt business is out of the way, to help this country."

BY FERDINAND JAHN.

Berlin, February 26.—Committees of German vigilantes have surrounded the Ruhr to prevent the influx of hordes of strike-breakers.

Germany, Monday, frustrated the plan of France to import hundreds of Czech-Slovakian workers to dig coal in the industrial area by driving back the invaders who attempted to cross the frontier at Innsbruck. According to word received here, Poles, Lithuanians and Italians were prevented from entering the Ruhr at other points. The German government believes that it will win out in the economic war with France if strikebreakers can be kept out of the district.

France, in order to tighten her grip on the Ruhr and Rhineland, Monday, conducted several important troop movements. The towns of Wanne and Recklinghausen were evacuated and Montabaur, which is located in the area recently evacuated by the American forces, was occupied.

The French, fearing that General Ludendorff contemplates a nationalist uprising against the occupation of the Ruhr, are planning to prohibit Germans from entering or leaving the Ruhr.

Time Not Yet Ripe.
Ludendorff, the acknowledged leader of the German fascists, has advised his followers, however, that the time is not yet ripe for an uprising. As long as the government of Chancellor period was substantially greater than the average of previous years.

CAUSES FOR DROP IN COTTON PRICE

Causes Are Given.
More specifically, however, and hinging around the reduction in the amount of cotton consumed, the following causes were given:
1. Recognition of the over-developed credit structure, the increase in prices during the war period and in 1919-20 being due in a considerable degree, it was stated, to the inflation resulting especially from the war policy of the government of borrowing at low interest rates, which involved maintaining low rates in the money markets also.
2. The great increase in high-priced inventories and consequent strain on working capital.
3. The growing dissatisfaction of consumers which developed into the so-called "buyers' strike."
4. The raising of interest rates, the calling in of bank loans and the different aspects of deflation which resulted in the rapid break in prices in general in 1920.

Price Called Artificial.
The report was also inclined to treat the peak of cotton prices in 1919 as artificial, in that they were due in part to the expectation that there would be a world shortage of the commodity, making the advances "distorted" for that period. This naturally was reflected in the downward trend which followed, it was stated.

(See important phase of the subject developed in the investigation concerning the influence which future exchanges exercise over spot markets. Because of the option of sellers of futures to tender one or more of ten different grades on contracts for future delivery, and because spot prices are largely quoted on the basis of futures, being absolutely influenced by them to some extent, the situation may have a tendency to affect unfavorably the prices received by producers of cotton, it was pointed out. In this connection, there are several bills pending in congress to reduce the number of grades tenderable under future contracts, with the view of reducing such delivery-month discounts from quotations which are materially reflected in the spot market.

Dial Is Pleased.
Senator Dial, of South Carolina, who introduced the resolution calling for the investigation, in a formal statement today said he was delighted with the decision of the commission, especially that part which referred to the injurious operation of the cotton futures contract law against the grower of cotton.

He said he would look forward to the recommendations of the commission for a remedy.

COMMEND GOVERNOR FOR ABOLISHING LASH

Church Committee Passes Resolution—Scoville Would Bar Whip in Schools.

At a meeting of the members of the committee on church co-operation

Monday resolutions commending Governor Hardwick's recent action in prohibiting prison whipping in Georgia were passed and the following letter was mailed to him Monday evening:

Hon. Thomas W. Hardwick, Governor of Georgia, Atlanta, Ga.

By direction of the committee on church co-operation given by resolution at its meeting Monday, February 26, in the absence of Chairman Egan from the city, I wish to express to you the committee's deep appreciation of your action as governor in passing the executive order which gives effect to the provision of our constitution making it unlawful to flog prisoners in Georgia.

We were gratified to note in the press reports the statement from the secretary of the prison commission that the commission would at once meet the order into effect. We are confident that the overwhelming majority of the people of Georgia, both in public and private life, will approve your action and uphold you in it and that it will mean a step forward for our state.

Again thanking you for your action and for the uniform consideration and courtesy shown by you to the committee in considering the question, I am,

Sincerely yours,
M. M. DAVIS,
New Chairman.

Bar Lash in Schools.

J. C. Naville, of Stillmore, Ga., has a new suggestion to make on the question of whipping as a punishment. In a letter to Governor Hardwick, received at the capital Monday, he asks why, now that whipping of convicts in the state prisons has been abolished, whipping of pupils in public schools cannot likewise go into the discard.

The letter awaits the governor's consideration upon his return from his present visit to his old home in Sandersville.

Several drug stores—including the Franklin & Cox store, at Marietta and Forsyth streets; Jacobs Pharmacy, Marietta street, and other places have been "bumped" within the past few weeks by short-change artists, and Detective Lieutenant John C. Davis stated the three boys had been identified by three victims as the ones that had been changing the change in their stores, swindling them of sums ranging from $10 to $20.

Photographs and Bertillon measurements of the boys have been taken by the direction of Detective Captain T. O. Sturdivant, who has them sent broadcast in an effort to learn if they are wanted elsewhere.

Judge Grants Long Sentence to Mail Box Thief.

Confessing a liking for prison life as opposed to freedom, a one-armed negro who goes by the name of Eddie Dudley sometimes and by the name of Henry Jackson at other times, was sentenced to a five-year term in the Atlanta federal penitentiary Monday for breaking open lock mail boxes.

Dudley, according to officers, is now serving his fourth term in prison. Twice before this time he was sent up from Florida and once from Virginia.

The five-year sentence was passed by Judge Julian Mack, of New York, who was holding court at Tampa when Dudley pleaded guilty of breaking open lock mail boxes in Lakeland, Fla.

Owing to the fact that the negro let it be known that he had committed the offense for the specific purpose of being sent to prison, the five-year term was decided upon, the judge declaring that if the negro was determined to live in prison he might make the sentence for five years to save the government the expense of making further cases.

INITIAL BAPTISMAL RITE HELD SUNDAY

The first baptismal rite to be administered in the new building of the Grace Methodist church occurred Sunday morning, preliminary to the sermon, when the Rev. A. G. Shankle, pastor, baptized nine children.

NEW WEEVIL CURE

Carolinian Finds That Bible Shows Remedy.

The last word in boll weevil remedies has been proposed in a letter received by Governor Hardwick from a man who says that he learned the remedy from "Sam P. Cloer," of Greenville, South Carolina.

The man begins his argument by quotations from the Bible, says the only true remedy is "repentance, water and fire," and begins the preamble to the remedy by saying: "Know all men that destructive pests are sent on from heaven in disobedience but there is a remedy."

This remedy, he says, would be to plant the cotton in strips 30 feet wide, alternating with strips of about the same width. Then, when the oats have been cut, the man would burn the stubble. "In a few years," he hopefully says, "the boll weevil would be destroyed. The same remedy will work with other pests in other crops."

He says the Indians worked some similar system with their corn. In conclusion, the man admits that he has never tried this remedy on cotton.

Neill Will Support Early Inauguration And Committee Change

Speaker Cecil Neill, of the Georgia house of representatives, will support the movement for inauguration of the governor and other statehouse officials in January, after the November elections, he stated Monday.

This plan, which will require a constitutional amendment, has been supported by both Governor Dorsey and Governor Hardwick, and has been strongly endorsed by Governor-elect Walker. At present, the inaugurations do not take place until June, a gap so long between the election and assumption of office, as to cause vast awkwardness in administration.

Mr. Neill will likewise support the move to return to the old system of separate committees on ways and means and appropriations. It will be remembered these two committees were consolidated in 1921.

Mrs. Jeannette Ryder, an American, president of the Band of Mercy, has been adopted by the city of Havana in recognition for her services during the last 20 years for the relief of children and defenseless animals.

J. C. Naville, of Stillmore, Ga., has a new suggestion to make on the question of whipping as a punishment. In a letter to Governor Hardwick, received at the capital Monday, he asks why, now that whipping of convicts in the state prisons has been abolished, whipping of pupils in public schools cannot likewise go into the discard.

The letter awaits the governor's consideration upon his return from his present visit to his old home in Sandersville.

GIRL SCOUT HEAD AT LIONS' CLUB LUNCHEON TODAY

Mrs. Jane Kippin, international director of the Girl Scouts, will address the Lions' club at the regular luncheon meeting today at the chamber of commerce. It was announced Monday.

Besides the address of Mrs. Kippin, special attention will be given the proposed Central park project. A leader in the movement has been invited to explain the plan for the park before the club, and all members are urged to be present.

MYSTIC POSTOFFICE IS ROBBED OF $135

Four postoffice robberies, one loss approximately $135.45, were reported in the Atlanta division Monday to Joseph P. Johnston, postal inspector in charge.

Joseph M. Sims, postmaster at Mableton, Ga., wired Mr. Johnston that the Mystic office was broken into Monday morning about 2 o'clock and robbed of about $135.45, and the suspects were traveling in the direction of Macon.

The office at Odessa, Fla., was broken open Saturday night, according to Mr. Johnston, but only slight loss was sustained.

Other robberies reported Monday were those of Gardner, Fla., in which one collect on delivery parcel was lost, and Leary, Ga., which office was entered Saturday night.

CREDIT MEN PLAN LOCAL CHAPTER OF NEW ORDER

Local credit men will meet today at 2 o'clock in the lunchroom of the Citizens and Southern bank to form a local chapter of the Robert Morris Associates, a national association of financial credit men and an affiliated branch of the National Association of Credit Men, it was announced Monday by C. E. Allen, chairman of the local group.

A large delegation will attend the 1923 convention of the organization to be held here, June 12 to 15, and preliminary arrangements to care for the delegation at this time were made last week by members from national headquarters, composed of the following: E. S. Sibley, vice-president of the Robert Morris Associates; company, of Providence, R. I., and director of Robert Morris Associates; Alexander Wall, secretary-treasurer, and Julian H. Hill, president of the State and City Bank and Trust company, of Cleveland, Ohio, and member of the advisory board.

New Note Struck By Riely Eakin In Leide Offering

Dramatic Soprano Again Is Heard at Howard—Ann Mae Coleman Dances.

A new note is struck this week in the prologue of the Howard theater. It is of interest to all music lovers of Atlanta because it brings back to them Riely Eakin in one of her best prologue roles. With Riely Eakin, that gifted dramatic soprano, who has won such a big place in the hearts of Atlanta theatergoers, is Miss Ann Mae Coleman, one of the south's leading exponents of the esthetic dance. Miss Coleman is assisted by Dale DeLane in her dance.

But back to the prologue. It is seen the master hand of Enrico Leide, director of the theater, who "discovered" Riely Eakin to the pleasure of everyone who attends the Howard.

The prologue this week is one of Mr. Leide's most masterly productions. In it he has struck a new note in the general theme. The stage effects and lighting are marvelous, but scarcely come up to the matchless beauty of Riely Eakin's singing.

Riely Eakin in this prologue wears a costume of the Chinese girl. It is striking in its simplicity and charm and was made especially for the design by a woman who spent 15 years in China.

The prologue this week is presented with the Leide picture, "Java Head." The scene is a Buddhist temple with Miss Coleman as the living Buddha and Riely Eakin as the little Manchu princess, whose part is so ably acted by the screen by Miss Coleman.

But above all, this prologue brings back Riely Eakin and that is enough.

Manager Announces New Huyler Place On Peachtree Street

Huyler's has leased the store at 187 Peachtree street, now occupied by the Frigidaria corporation, and will convert the premises into a first-class and thoroughly modern soda parlor and cafe, to be known as the Huyler's cafe, at the expiration of the lease of the present tenants in the late spring, according to announcement by John W. Shinholzen, manager of Huyler's at 91 Peachtree street.

The store at 187 Peachtree street is 23 by 100 feet, with a basement. When remodeled the store will have magnificent floor. The property belongs to Henry S. Jackson.

The Huyler chain of stores includes 77 high grade establishments in the principal cities of America.

Cathey Forfeits Bond On Extortion Charge; Rearrest Is Ordered

A $5,000 bond posted by Carl Cathey, former Atlanta policeman, for his appearance in Fulton superior court Monday for trial on charges of robbery by intimidation, was forfeited through failure of the defendant to appear. His rearrest and an increase of his bond to $10,000 was ordered.

Cathey was charged with extorting $20 from Dr. E. B. Wallace, Atlanta physician. He is also charged with the theft of a quantity of gasoline from a local filling station.

GIRL IS CHARGED WITH ASSISTING SWINDLE SCHEME

One girl and three boys are being held by the police as members of a "short-change artists."

The girl, Miss May Sullivan, of St. Louis, Mo., was taken in custody shortly after her arrival Sunday night. Her part in the scheme has not been determined by the officers investigating, but they say she has operated in St. Louis with at least two of those now in jail.

The men arrested are W. W. Wyatt and Bob Harrison, of Ardmore, Okla., and J. P. Lumley, of S. South Broad street. Wyatt and Harrison, in the opinion of detectives, engaged Lumley to "steer" them into local stores where the "picking" might prove easy.

Several drug stores—including the Franklin & Cox store, at Marietta and Forsyth streets; Jacobs Pharmacy, Marietta street, and other places have been "bumped" within the past few weeks by short-change artists, and Detective Lieutenant John C. Davis stated the three boys had been identified by three victims as the ones that had been changing the change in their stores, swindling them of sums ranging from $10 to $20.

Photographs and Bertillon measurements of the boys have been taken by the direction of Detective Captain T. O. Sturdivant, who has them sent broadcast in an effort to learn if they are wanted elsewhere.

Judge Grants Long Sentence to Mail Box Thief.

Confessing a liking for prison life as opposed to freedom, a one-armed negro who goes by the name of Eddie Dudley sometimes and by the name of Henry Jackson at other times, was sentenced to a five-year term in the Atlanta federal penitentiary Monday for breaking open lock mail boxes.

Dudley, according to officers, is now serving his fourth term in prison. Twice before this time he was sent up from Florida and once from Virginia.

The five-year sentence was passed by Judge Julian Mack, of New York, who was holding court at Tampa when Dudley pleaded guilty of breaking open lock mail boxes in Lakeland, Fla.

Owing to the fact that the negro let it be known that he had committed the offense for the specific purpose of being sent to prison, the five-year term was decided upon, the judge declaring that if the negro was determined to live in prison he might make the sentence for five years to save the government the expense of making further cases.

The first extra award is a luxurious 3-passenger Anderson six touring car, valued at $1,250.00 delivered in Atlanta, and the second is a 5-passenger Gardner touring car, valued at $1,075 delivered here.

The man or woman member of the Help-Yourself Club who turns in the greatest amount of money on subscriptions between February 19 and Saturday, March 10, will get his or her choice of the two prizes. The person turning in the next largest amount of money on subscriptions during this period will get the remaining car.

Notes have nothing whatever to do with deciding winners in this special contest—though they will be credited to club members according to the regular rules of the club and will be included in deciding winners of the original list of forty big awards.

State's Hands Tied In Arsenate Case, Is Napier's Opinion

The state cannot bring suit against the Sherwin-Williams company for failure to live up to its contract of 1922 on calcium arsenate, is the opinion delivered Monday by Attorney General George M. Napier to Governor Hardwick.

The opinion also declares it doubtful whether farmers who placed orders under the contract and failed to get deliveries could maintain a suit, it being impossible to compute their damage in money. In any case he held that it is not incumbent upon the state to bring suit on behalf of these farmers and suggested that if they wished to appeal to the courts, it would be advisable for them to consolidate their claims and let one lawyer handle them together.

leased to some reputable, high-class operator for a term of years, according to Mr. Logan, and several hotel operators have already written, wired and talked to him with a view to securing management of the handsome new building.

without trouble. In addition, six exclusive shops will branch off the mezzanine floor, having fronts on Peachtree street. In the basement will be located a rathskeller which will also afford a place for dancing.

The hotel will be handsomely equipped and appointed, affording every modern convenience and, with the sixteen commercial shops which it will include under its roof, will constitute a complete business center all its own.

Building Record Seen.
Prospects for the greatest building year ever recorded in the history of Atlanta being reached during 1923, it appears altogether favorable, it was revealed Monday by C. J. Bowen, city building inspector, who based his estimates on the permit records for the first two months of this year.

Total permit figures for February to date have gone above $1,700,000 and likelihood that the $2,000,000 mark will be reached by Wednesday appeared certain, it was stated. Figures for January were $3,300,000, which already gives 1923 a total of $5,000,000 which breaks all previous building records.

"Judging from the phenomenal start this year," declared Inspector Bowen, "I feel safe in saying that 1923 will be an even greater year than 1922 along building lines. It looks to me that the present year will by far be the greatest ever recorded in the history of Atlanta."

Big Office Buildings.
"Office buildings and business structures in the downtown section, now in course of erection, are responsible for such a favorable start. However, there is considerable activity in construction of residential buildings and with spring near at hand I look for greater activity in this line."

A permit for the erection of a large warehouse and manufacturing plant to cost $40,000 was issued Monday to Dunbar & Sewell, to be located at Mangham street near the Southern railway tracks. Work on this structure will be begun at once, it was stated.

HOW TO GET RID OF COLDS AND CATARRH

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive,
Method that Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There are many people suffering from chronic catarrh who would like to know how they can stop catching cold after cold, for they must realize that sooner or later this may lead to deafness and other serious troubles.

Dr. Blosser, for years a specialist in catarrh, is the discoverer of a pleasant, direct method that can be used by women and children as well as men. His remedy is made from medicinal herbs, flowers and berries which you smoke in a dainty pipe or cigarette, and inhale the vapor into all the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs. Carrying medicine where sneezes, coughs and salves cannot possibly reach. It contains no cubes, tobacco or habit-forming drugs.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is effective in all forms of colds, catarrh, asthma, ear, nose and throat troubles, and all the ailments that may lead to deafness. You will breathe better and feel better after using it.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy may be had at any drug store; or if you desire proof of its beneficial and pleasant effect, send ten cents (coin or stamps) to The Blosser Co., 40 E. 17th St., New York, N. Y., for a trial package (adv.).

Attention, Tourists

If you drive a car, here's something for you. A rain-proof, wind-proof and dust-proof top-coat; strong and dependable, keeps you dry, warm and clean; protects your health and clothes, no matter how fast you drive. It's the new woolen, homespun-surface, double-texture vulcanized Slip-on.

It is tailored in the smart belted model, roomy and comfortable. Moderate in price.

Don't let another day pass before you see this coat. Buy one and, after wearing it twelve months, if it has proved unsatisfactory, bring it back and get the full price you paid for it. That's all; Thank you.

Finders of Tomb Of King Tut Not Likely to Profit

Egypt Trying to Get Possession of All Articles, Says Breasted.

Chicago, February 26.—(By the Associated Press).—Bringing the first eyewitness story of the opening of the outer part of King Tutankhamen's tomb at Luxor, Egypt, Charles Breasted, son of Dr. James H. Breasted, Egyptologist of the University of Chicago, who is now at Luxor with the expedition which unearthed the ancient resting place of the monarch, returned to Chicago today.

Mr. Breasted declared that much strife and ill-feeling are being engendered among nations and individuals over the finding of the priceless treasures.

"The excavators who found the tomb probably will not get any of the articles they found," he said. "The whole thing has been wonderfully managed. Under an old treaty England was given the right by the French to carry on the excavations in search of the tomb. Now the French are jealous of the find made by the British."

"The minister in charge of Egypt some time ago had a conversation with the English Egyptologists who have half of all the treasures they found."

"The present minister is attempting to get a law through so that the excavators can have nothing. This probably will result in the work being stopped and the Metropolitan museum expedition there is expected to be recalled."

"The Englishmen who found King Tut's tomb probably will get little or nothing. Several possibly, of some kind from the French government. The weight of public and official opinion very likely will result in the find of the treasures being placed in a museum at Cairo or Luxor."

"It probably will require another year to remove all the articles from King Tut's tomb. They do not know how to handle them, and they are open. I left before the opening of the chamber where his body was supposed to be located. The excavators have no desire to be 'drawn out' by the mummy of the king probably will be left undisturbed but the antiquities will be placed in a museum."

BRITAIN IS EXTENDING TURKS OLIVE BRANCH

London, February 26.—Britain has extended the olive branch to Turkey. In order to aid Ismet Pasha to overcome the opposition of the extremists in the Ankara national assembly, England has ordered all her warships, with the exception of a light cruiser, to withdraw from the Smyrna harbor.

The government believes that its action will be instrumental in promoting better relations between Britain and Turkey and will, perhaps, result in the calling of another conference to complete the work of the Lausanne parity.

Russia to Aid Turkey.

Constantinople, February 26.—(By the Associated Press).—Russia will come to the aid of Turkey if the latter is "attacked" by the western powers, declares M. Orloff, soviet representative here, in a published interview.

"The alliance between Turkey and Russia and Turkey with the other Oriental nations," he declared, "is being constituted a grouping which is alarming to Europe and which the powers dare not attack."

"Yet it may be that pushed by imperialistic designs, they will attack. Then you may be sure Russia will remain faithful to the treaty and come to the aid of Turkey and her allies are watching, arms in hand."

CHARGES AGAINST
BERGER DISMISSED
IN FEDERAL COURT

Chicago, February 26.—Charges of conspiracy to obstruct the recruiting of military forces against Victor Berger, Milwaukee socialist, and three defendants convicted with him three years ago were dismissed here today by Judge James H. Wilkerson, federal judge.

Berger, with Adolph Germer, national secretary of the national socialist party; William F. Kruse, national secretary of the young people's socialist party; Louis Engelblad, editor of the American socialist, and John J. Tucker, Episcopalian minister, were sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

A new trial was ordered and Edwin A. Olson, district attorney, reviewed the evidence he said he found that the government's case was weak because of matter ruled out by the circuit court of appeals. Because of this, the attorney general agreed to dismiss the facts.

NESMITH TABLET
OMITS GREATEST
VICTORY HE WON

New York, February 26.—A bronze tablet to be placed on the monument of Captain Otto Nesmith, U. S. A., retired, when he is buried to-day at Arlington national cemetery beside his wife, will tell of his military record, but not of his greatest battle. This was his victory, a year's effort, in setting aside military regulations, which previously had permitted only bare mention of a soldier's wife on his monument.

Nesmith's army lines will record Captain Nesmith's army service, but the tablet will pay tribute to Mrs. Nesmith, a woman of "an ideal wife and mother; her whole life was one of self-sacrificing devotion to family and friends and thought for others."

Captain Nesmith, who died Friday, was a veteran of the Spanish-American war, the Cuban campaign and the judge advocate at Governor's Island during the world war. Mrs. Nesmith died in 1919, was a noted actress.

"Big Tim," Chicago
Labor Leader, Now
In Federal Prison

Leavenworth, Kans., February 26.—(By the Associated Press).—Timothy "Big Tim" Murphy, Chicago labor leader, convicted of complicity in the Dearborn street station mail robbery, arrived and was "dressed in" at the federal prison here this morning. He was given prison No. 18900.

From newsgirl, salesgirl, factory worker and stenographer, Mrs. Mary Ryan Schwab has risen to the position of attorney in San Francisco, being the first woman to receive such an honor in that state.

PROBE OF WEALTH OF U. S. URGED

Washington, February 26.—An inquiry to determine the amount and ownership of the "chief kinds of wealth" in the United States would be made by the federal trade commission under a resolution introduced in the senate by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska.

On objection of Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, consideration of the resolution was postponed for a day.

Assuming that the output of tax-free securities had a total seriously handicapping vital industries in need of credit, the resolution declared inquiry as to ownership of the national wealth was necessary before any intelligent tax policy could be framed.

FIXING OF PRICES FOR OIL DENIED

Washington, February 26.—Dr. W. M. Burton, of Chicago, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, testified today at a hearing of the senate manufacturers' subcommittee inquiry, branded as "false and wholly untruthful" charges of price-fixing made against the company in testimony before the committee by Thomas S. Black of Chicago, president of the Western Petroleum company.

Dr. Burton, in his testimony, declared that the company had no part in the fixing of prices of oil products.

He said that after the first joint meeting of the board of directors, it seemed that his company had a small part in the fixing of prices, but that the company was not a party to the fixing of prices.

and plunged off the track. It turned up in a ditch, and carried nine coaches with it. Fireman Donk, who was killed, was on the engine. The lead engine did not leave the tracks, and none of its crew was injured. The last three Pullmans in the train did not leave the track.

The track and roadbed were torn up for more than 200 yards and the nine coaches and engine that left the track were piled in a jumble of wreckage resembling an old country rail fence after it had been hit by a cyclone.

The steel dining car was thrown across a big ditch, bridge-like. None of the passengers in the diner and Pullmans were hurt, but the diner and injured being in the day coaches and day smoker except the dead fireman.

The nine coaches which left the track were the mail coach, baggage coach, two day coaches, dining car, and four Pullmans.

Injured Aid in Relief.

J. R. Hanchach, of LaFollette, Ill., was the first passenger to get out of the wrecked train, being thrown through a window by the impact. Despite the serious injuries to his head and hand, he helped the trainmen batter their way to the rescue of passengers pinned in one of the coaches.

Will Hardin, Jr., of Murfreesboro, Tenn., whose head and hand were badly smashed and lacerated, and heroically fought his injuries and fought to rescue other passengers trapped in wrecked coaches.

He brought young Frank Everett and the boy's mother from the wreckage before realizing that he himself was bleeding almost to death.

Mr. Hardin said that all of the passengers acted calmly, and that there was no sign of panic among them as he aided the trainmen in breaking into the coaches and making a way for their escape.

WEALTHY CONTRACTOR MURDERED; WIFE HELD

New York, February 26.—Captain Frederick Schneider, wealthy contractor and builder of the Theodore Roosevelt world's biggest apartment house, was killed today by two bullets fired into the back of his head as he was driving along a lonely road in the outskirts of the Bronx.

His body was found slumped against the steering wheel, by a patrolman who had been told by a farmer that an "intoxicated man was sleeping in a car down the road."

SPLIT EXPECTED ON POLICE CHANGE

Ordinance Committee Meets Today to Consider Carpenter's Proposal to Curb Police Committee.

Consideration of two important ordinances, one by Alderman J. L. Carpenter to curb powers of the police committee, and the other by Alderman Oscar Williamson to abolish the purchasing committee, will occupy the attention of the ordinance committee of council, which has been called for 2 o'clock this afternoon by Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, chairman. The two proposed ordinances were introduced in council at its last session and referred to the ordinance committee. A determined fight between proponents of the two ordinances and those opposing them is foreseen before the ordinance committee. A number of councilmen leaders have signified their intention to appear and take part in the discussion. Alderman Carpenter's ordinance, providing for a sweeping change in the police committee's administration over the police department, is expected to result in both a majority and minority report being recommended to council. The measure would take away all powers of the police committee and vest them in the mayor and general council. The ordinance to abolish the purchasing committee, which was appointed by council at the first of the year to superintend expenditures in the purchasing agent's department, appears also to be certain of a bitter fight.

LaGrange Alumni.

The LaGrange College Alumni association will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. James Ridley, 112 Linwood avenue, instead of the home of Mrs. James Buchanan, as was announced Sunday. The change has been made on account of the illness of Mrs. Buchanan, it was announced.

NEW DEVELOPMENT COSTS $1,500,000

Padgett Announces Plans for Opening Orme Tract on North Side Before Spring Season.

Opening of a new residential development which will involve upwards of $1,500,000 was announced Monday by Ben R. Padgett, general manager of the L. W. Rogers Realty and Trust company. A tract of 37 acres, beginning at Virginia avenue immediately east of Highland avenue and running north for approximately 2,000 feet, which was recently acquired by F. A. Ames, Kentucky capitalist, will be subdivided, improved and placed on the market this spring, it was stated. The new section will be an extension of the present Virginia Highlands subdivision, now nearing completion. When the lots are improved with homes the section will represent a total investment of approximately a million and a half dollars. It was stated by officials of the Rogers company. The section will have an exclusive patronage and strict building limitations will be enforced. A number of prominent Atlantans are already planning to erect high-grade residences in the section, it was stated. The Virginia Highlands extension will be bounded on the west by the 80-foot Lanier boulevard, now being opened. The Georgia Railway and Power company recently announced that it would extend the Highland avenue car line out Lanier boulevard to the Zimmer farm. All other city improvements and conveniences will be provided in the Ames property. Mr. Ames is manufacturer of automobile bodies at Owensboro, Ky., and is owner of the celebrated Ames stock farms at Mobile, Ala. He has extensive real estate holdings in Atlanta.

Fullbright to Talk.

Athens, Ga., February 26.—State

Tax Commissioner H. J. Fullbright will address a mass meeting here Wednesday on "Tax Reform in the State of Georgia." It is understood that his address will be featured by a virile attack on the Georgia legislature, this report having come from good authority, who says that in all of his recent messages, the commissioner has taken occasion to scold the assembly.

NEW FOREIGN POLICY.

The nation has not been particularly surprised at President Harding's request late Saturday that the senate authorize American membership in the International court set up by the league of nations.

The greatest surprise is that there should have been so much delay in responding to overwhelming public opinion.

That response, however, "better late than never," is the more keenly appreciable because it is a direct reversal of the administration attitude, as announced in President Harding's inaugural address, and as subsequently accentuated in a prescribed foreign policy that denoted the very cooperation in International affairs that is now sought.

How different would be the economic conditions of the world today had this action been taken in 1920; or had President Harding seen the same light in the early months of 1921?

While the present development cannot be otherwise construed than the triumph of rapidly mobilizing public sentiment in this country, which was reflected even in the elections last November, it is only fair to say that it is a commendable courage, however, that led the executive to waive his partisan pre-election and early official administrative views to the force of popular will.

It is the democratic thing to do, of course; but aside from that view of it, it is an illustration of a personal broadness that will serve the president well in popular esteem during the remainder of his official tenancy.

As to Secretary Hughes, while he and the president are agreed that American membership in the international court is now essential, in setting world affairs in order—which, by the way, is not only an official recognition of the league of nations, but is nothing less than the originally proposed membership under the treaty of Versailles, with the reservations proposed by Senator Lodge at the time, and on which the more conservative republicans finally weakened by the hammerings of the irreconcilables, and to meet prevailing political exigencies—the public will not accord to him the same credit for courage that it will to President Harding; and for the reason that he originally favored the very action he is now seeking, spoke and wrote and worked for it, and yet subsequently reversed himself in order to float in a tide of general misconception and prejudice, even at a time when he was in official position to extend international cooperation; and now reverses himself again, getting back to his original views, through the lashing of public demand.

While actual conviction may not have changed, there has been a lack of a uniform courage of that conviction on the part of the secretary of state that has not challenged the deep admiration of the people.

It is most doubtful at this late hour in the 67th congress that the request of the president will be granted, but whether it is or not, the fact is unmistakable that the administration is now officially committed to a policy entirely reversing its former policy of isolation; and this in itself, through the force of psychology, will be morally helpful in straightening out the distressing affairs of the world. In the meantime the ultra anti-leaguers in the republican party will raise a mighty howl, of course, declaring this is nothing less than proposing entry into the league of nations by degrees. This in itself will widen the chasm between the administration and the anti-administration factions, and further emphasizes the demand for democratic unity along the lines of popular demand for cooperation in setting the European house in order looking to opening foreign markets for American products, and better domestic economic conditions.

COAL IS TOO HIGH!

The United Mine Workers of Pennsylvania have informed the United States coal commission that because a "monopoly organization" exists in the anthracite industry coal consumers are paying more per ton than they should.

The charge that this is because of an operator-banker railroad alliance, which is the alleged "monopoly organization," is quite familiar, and is another voice out of the past.

The miners ask the commission—
"To determine the actual investment in the anthracite mines and . . . to establish and insist for all time upon a uniform accounting system similar to the one advocated by the federal trade commission. Unless a satisfactory accounting system is adopted and enforced, the public and the miners will continue to disbelieve the statements of costs and profits which are now given so much publicity."

There are only two things about the whole matter that the public is assured of: first, that the cost of coal is too great—too great for the economic good of the country and too great according to proven costs of mining and transportation; second, that the industry is overdeveloped, over-capitalized, and that the public is "carrying" these surplus and idle investments in the costs they are called upon to pay for coal.

The excess costs for coal, which is really crippling industry, as well as striking heavily at the incomes of the masses, are to be determined by the coal commission. The operators say it is due to excessive demands, the high material and tax costs; the workers say it is due to downright profiteering.

The public is looking to the coal commission to go deeply into these matters in its "fact finding" investigations, and the commission is doing so, without fear or favor, but with full appreciation of its obligations to the public under the law creating it.

HOW BANKS HELP.

The First National Bank of Lavinia has inaugurated an "extension department" and placed a manager in charge whose sole and only duty is to help develop worth-while farm activities in Franklin county.

Right now this extension department is devoting itself to pure-bred poultry culture in the county, believing that this will lead to a material increase in the county's prosperity, and to the general betterment of the condition of the farmers. The plan is to put into every home a supply of pure-bred hatching eggs, the same to be paid for next fall when the foundation stock has been firmly established, either in eggs or chickens. Every community will be divided into clubs, and the work of placing the eggs, keeping the records, etc., will be left to the schools.

If the schools co-operate, as they no doubt will, and the people of the county become thoroughly aroused to the real financial opportunities in poultry culture, this innovation on the part of the bank, which is most progressive and commendable, should work out to great advantage.

The co-operative spirit is sweeping the country. In California eggs are marketed, even by the thousands of cases annually, in the cities of the east through a co-operative marketing association, and the California eggs, eight days in transit, bring a premium in New York over the Long Island egg, which is produced in the city's suburbs. The reason is in the fact that the eggs are all sterile, uniform in size, clean, properly packed, etc., all of these marketing advantages being the result of co-operation.

No doubt other banks in Georgia are doing extensive work, or are specializing in constructive community progress, aside from banking routine. If so the Constitution would be glad to hear from such institutions. It is a great work, and shows one arm of defense against boll weevil invasion that is infinitely more practical than some of the "science" being suggested for weevil control.

Arsenic Ores Found In Georgia and Alabama

Editor Constitution: War has been declared on the Mexican boll weevil by the boll weevil control conference meeting held in Atlanta, Ga., on February 20-21, 1923.

It was brought out in a clear and decisive manner that arsenic was the best destructive agent to be used in controlling this boll weevil. I think there is no doubt about these demonstrations as our federal government has had master minds working for a number of years to make these demonstrations and they would not mislead us. Now, this being a fact what we want is arsenic ore, plenty of it and at a moderate price. This is the only way to win this war on this little bug which will be lost and we will go down in defeat if we lack this one poison. We will grant you we have the greatest of generals and the best of trained troops, and yet, if we lack the one known agent, our forces will be defeated.

The writer has for the past five months been hunting for deposits of arsenic ores in Georgia and Alabama. There are some in this state. The Georgia ores are located south of the railroad transportation than the Alabama deposits.

I will not understatement say that there is plenty of raw ore in Alabama and the Georgia state line, and in the heart of the cotton belt, to poison acres of cotton and control the weevil and these ores can be converted into arsenic as cheaply as in any part of the globe. This is what we want to do and do it as quickly as we can. We will emerge from an abundant supply of this much-needed commodity.

As a boy I was raised on a farm and I want to do all in my power to help win the war that has been declared on our enemy, the boll weevil, that must be destroyed.

In destroying this pest, some of us may think that there will be no production of cotton. I do not think so, as the southern farmer has learned the lesson that it is better for him to raise other crops and cut his cotton acreage down.

I want to see the day come that every farmer will make his living on other crops, and be able to hold his cotton and not sell until he receives a reasonable price for it, above production, and I believe that time will come soon. The writer would like to hear from any one that may read this article, expressing their views as to the manufacture of calcium arsenate in the south, where you think it would benefit the cotton planter.

We intend to develop these arsenic deposits as fast as our funds will permit. I hope this will encourage the farmers of the south to know that it is possible to have an abundance of this much-needed calcium arsenate right here in the south and right at our door.

I hope that each and everybody will unite and will keep fighting until our common enemy, the boll weevil, is utterly destroyed.

Appreciates an Editorial

Editor Constitution: Permit me to thank you for the recent editorial on the filibuster against the shipping bill.

The article shows a broad-minded comprehension of one of the big problems before the present congress, and I feel that I would be doing less than my duty if I withheld my word of appreciation.

The Farmer's Problem

Editor Constitution: I take sides with Brother Holloway in today's issue, only he did not go quite far enough. The weevil is the farmer's problem but he has to have help. If he has to wait so long to get help, let them place $2,000,000 in the field and let the little children, so hungry and cold, catch Mr. Boll Weevil and share in the bounty.

Barrett Talks Out in Open!

BY JAMES A. HOLLOWAY

Charles S. Barrett, of Georgia, president of the National Farmers' union, chairman of the national board of farm organizations, and so on, has written a book—another book I might say, for this is not his first—

And yet "Uncle Reuben in Washington," this last book, is putting the finger on the president of the union along with Dr. Percy Grant and others who are racing for the pictures.

There is a great deal of difference, however, in the channels of thought through which these two notables are sailing.

Grant is talking about something he doesn't know anything about, nor does anyone else, although he is most unfortunately knocking the props from under that sweet faith that has been the one Balm in Gilead through all the ages.

While Barrett is talking about something he knows all about, and everybody who is familiar with official Washington knows that he is telling the truth about the generalities there.

The thing that is giving him the notoriety in connection with his hincle in the national intellect is the fact that he is telling so much truth, and telling it with a blunt frankness that is almost as refreshing as it is startling.

Barrett's arraignment of the "invisible government," of the "lobby trust," of the "resolution factories," of the "influence purchasing agencies," of the froth, the intrigue, the demagoguery, which enter into the management and control of this people's government, dominated by party politics, are veritable cauldrons of burning syllables.

But they are true—absolutely and unconditionally true.

For instance, talking of the "social lobby," just one wing of the "lobby," just one wing of the "lobby trust," the says—

"This is a sad comment on the apathy of Uncle Reuben. It is a standing rebuke to rural industry and to the political responsibility of the farmer. It is a standing rebuke to the farmer's own power. If I am asked how the farmer is to obtain places of power at the fountainhead of American government, I boldly reply they should take the initiative. The farmer is 38 per cent of the voting strength of the nation; have in their hands considerably more than one-fourth of the nation's wealth. They will deny that they at least average up with the rest of the country in intelligence. The record shows that they are hardworking, honest and thrifty. Measured by any standard, they are fully entitled to at least one-third of the offices in Washington."

Nobody can deny that Barrett is correct in this. Everybody in congress is a "farmer," but there are very few actual dirt farmers in all of the branches of government combined. This should be different.

Showing a fundamental knowledge of how best to get approval for legislation, Barrett tells the following story:

"A lawyer came to see me in reference to the proposed quail on potash. He brought with him a brief of about 20,000 words.

"What are you going to do with that formidable document? I asked.

"I am going to read it to Senator Blank."

"No, you're not," I assured him.

"Why?" he asked indignantly.

"For two reasons: First, he will not stay in one place long enough to permit you to complete your task. In the second place, he would not know what you are talking about."

"What are you going to do about it?" he exclaimed.

"My friend," I said, "you go to Senator Blank, look him squarely in the eye and say to him: 'Senator, there are thousands of organized farmers in my state and they all want free potash. You are seeking re-election in the early part of the year. What are you going to do about it?'"

"The lawyer promised to do as I had recommended. The interview lasted ten minutes. When he returned the senator rubbed his chin, coughed delicately and said: 'Well, then, I am for free potash.'"

MORE COUNTRY, LESS POLITICS

Editor Constitution: It gives me great pleasure to see your editorial headed "An Unfair Practice in Connection With Ship Subsidy Bill."

It makes me think of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is a politician, would think more of their country and less of themselves and their party. It would be better for their country.

The ship subsidy bill would be the greatest benefit to all parts of the country, and especially to the south.

Suggests Park Memorials

Editor Constitution: Two notable Atlanta women, within the last week—Mrs. Wylie and Mrs. Peel—were the cause of a score of memorial trees being planted in Piedmont park, to mark the occasion of the movement to retain the park as such several years ago, after the expositions there were discontinued. The trees were planted either at the Fourteenth or Twelfth street entrance, two stone pillars, one dedicated to Mrs. Wylie and the other to Mrs. Peel.

KONTZ MURDER TRIAL IS SET FOR MARCH 13

Trial of J. T. Kontz, young Atlanta charged with murder in connection with the deaths of two men from injuries sustained when his automobile struck them, has been set for March 13, it was announced at the courthouse Monday after his attorneys sought a postponement due to the illness of the defendant. The trial was originally set for Wednesday.

Kontz was indicted for murder after Tom Hunter and W. S. Gorman, employees of the Georgia Railway and Power company, died from injuries sustained when they were struck by his car while they were working on trolley car rails at Peachtree and Twelfth streets.

GEORGIA INSURANCE MAN IS HONORED

Frank W. Burr, general agent in Georgia for the State Mutual Life Insurance company, of Worcester, Mass., showed in his annual report to the company a large percentage of gains in 1922 than any other agency in the country, according to the semi-annual report received Monday from the home office of the company.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
(Copyright, 1923, for The Constitution.)

MISAPPLIED SANITARY PRECAUTIONS

The modern practice of sanitation still includes too many extravagant and useless rites. It is strange how reluctant the majority of the health officers are about discarding obsolete and wasteful procedures and adopting more scientific methods for the prevention and spread of disease. The excuse unblushingly offered by many of the political accidents who administer public health is that they believe the public may not approve a radical change, such as doing away with the old-fashioned stink-pot business, fumigation after contagious or infectious diseases.

The experience of well protected communities over a period of many years has proved beyond question that fumigation has no positive value in the prevention of the spread of such diseases as scarlet fever, diphtheria and smallpox, yet some communities are spending good money for this useless rite, not only is it useless but rather dangerous in effect because ignorant persons imagine that once an apartment has been fumigated there is no longer any need of fumigation to prevent the spread of disease, whereas the most efficient fumigation is the one that is not done.

Regulations or ordinances dealing with the sanitary precautions which are made must use in the prevention of the body of one deceased of a contagious or infectious disease place an unwarranted burden of expense on the shoulders of the bereaved and add not one iota of safety to the public in any way whatsoever. For example, laws require a heretically correct and a terrible stench to nothing more than superstition. The superstition is that some kind of evil or infectious disease is carried from the body and spreads through the air, a fancy which no sanitarian entertains for a moment.

When an outbreak of some communicable disease occurs in a school it is still deemed an appropriate rite in some communities to have the school room fumigated. Of course every one knows that the disease is carried to school by one pupil and spread to others through personal contact or in the spray from nose and mouth. How fumigation of the school room can alter that fact is a mystery, with which only an affable politician can grapple. It must be a dirty sort of school that calls for fumigation. May be it is a case of bad conscience on the part of the health officer, an eagerness to create a huge smoke screen to cover up his own mistakes, or perhaps he is just a fool who keeps folks from wondering where the health police were when the crime occurred. This practice of punishing the school for the crime of the child may be pleasing to the less enlightened classes but in effect it is just about as sensible as singing the cat a shikaree.

Perhaps the performance of these impressive rites gives the health officer a kind of dignity and importance (in his own estimation) makes him feel that he is doing something, and that he is earning his salary and all that sort of thing.

GOODBYN DEFENDS ROAD'S FAIRNESS

Traffic Executive Testifies Railways Want Same Rate Level to Pre-empt Through South.

Railroads handling freight to or from points south of the Potomac and Ohio rivers and east of the Mississippi river, advocate the same rate level for all points in the south, it was stated by D. M. Goodwyn, chairman of the railroad committee and traffic executive representing the roads, who went on the stand again Monday when hearing in the class rate investigation was resumed at the Piedmont hotel before Commissioner J. B. Eastman, of the interstate commerce commission, and Examiner W. J. Wagner, of the interstate commerce commission.

Goodwyn remained on the stand during both the morning and afternoon sessions of the hearing. He said that the railroads had made no proposal of the order of the interstate commerce commission relative to proposals on less than carload commodity rates, and he prepared no proposals for this hearing.

He predicted that even though the railroads accept an increase in freight rates along the coast, which are now low in order to meet water competition, it will not be long after such rates are raised before the railroads will have to go back to the interstate commerce commission and request the privilege of lowering them again, in order to meet water competition.

Rates in the Carolinas now are lower than in the other sections because of action of public service commissions in these states, it is claimed, and particularly is this true of North Carolina.

According to the proposal of the railroads, as explained to the commission, the carriers favor increase of rates in the Carolinas to levels which will bring the present rates on commodities between points within the two states about 64 per cent higher, and shipments routed through the two states from a point without to a point within would be increased about 20 per cent over present rates.

Attacking the proposals of the shippers that mileage be the basis for computing rates, Goodwyn declared that the carriers opposed such a plan because it would take from their right to exercise their own judgment in fixing rates with the view of competing with other lines.

Under the proposals of the shippers, rates to points would be figured on the mileage basis, but in the event of lines there the same point, one has a longer haul than the other, then the rate would be made the same in order to eliminate competition between the two lines, according to C. E. Cotterill, counsel for the Southern Traffic league.

Hearing will be resumed Tuesday morning. Fully two more weeks are expected to be required to finish the hearing.

FORMER ATLANTA PASTOR TO PREACH AT OLD PASTORATE

Evangelist S. H. Hall, of Nashville, Tenn., a former Atlanta pastor, will preach Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the West End Avenue Church of Christ, his former church. Mr. Hall has many friends in Atlanta, where for over fourteen years he served as minister. His subject will be "What Are the Greater Works of Christ?"

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY O. O. MINTYRE

New York, February 26.—In the city of New York, the players of the Players, just far enough away from the city's roar to seem almost rural. It was once the home of Edna St. Vincent Millay, and he has those in the arts.

It seems to me the only club remaining in New York that exudes of idyllic romance. Conversation never rises above the click of billiard balls. The peaceful lounge, wide old stairway and great open hearth inspire members unconsciously to walk on tiptoes.

Any luncheon hour brings men whose names are known all over the world. At one table Oliver Herford, silver-haired and bit stooped—one thinks of him always as Pan; Don Marquis, cherubic and beaming (who wouldn't beam with a hit on Broadway?) Issue Marousson, who has been talked to Fiji jinks and circled the world a dozen times.

At another table, James Flagg, the illustrious artist, sits next to the Lyndebcker brothers who sit across the way; Joe Chase, who has painted the actor, and Ernest Glendinning, the actor.

Outside is the merry shout of children. A few of the foreign-born, wearing coats from out of the East, are playing in the park at more fortunate brothers and sisters. The privileged, only, have keys to this picturesque world.

Some months ago the Players was torn with dissension. Younger members wanted to move uptown and down town, and a lunch room run by a woman it came to a final vote the count was overwhelmingly for remaining in the present location.

There is another type of clubman—far removed from the dignity that enshrouds those at the Players. He is a midnight supper clubman, looking for the upkiss of furnishing writing paper and envelopes to correspondents who are not guests among the regulars. He is a clubman, and he is a clubman, and he is a clubman.

Turk Malone, one of the handiest men with his fists on the Bowery in the early nineties, is now the night clubman. He is a clubman, and he is a clubman, and he is a clubman.

There was one night in a Bowery dance hall that Turk engaged in 15 separate fistfights and came out victorious. He is a clubman, and he is a clubman, and he is a clubman.

Atlanta Plunges Into Darkness As Wind Shifts

Artificial Lights Needed in Afternoon—Rain and Warmer Today.

What appeared to be the approach of a cyclone occurred in Atlanta shortly after 3 o'clock Monday afternoon during a rain storm when clouds and smoke hovered so low over the city the darkness made it necessary for lights to be turned on in offices and stores.

Besides the usual weather forecast of rain and warmer issued by C. F. Von Herrmann Monday, the meteorologist at the local station was called on to issue a statement explaining the unusual period of darkness.

"The world isn't coming to an end," said Mr. Von Herrmann, "nor are we going to have a cyclone. The fact is the case is that the wind suddenly changed. This of course brought about a period of calm, before the rain fell. Since February 13, when 2.70 inches fell, had any precipitation been recorded."

Considerably warmer weather was predicted for Tuesday morning, a temperature of 54 degrees being named at the expected minimum.

DIVORCEE WEDDINGS BARRED BY BAPTISTS

Ministers' Association to Accept Only Biblical Grounds in Second Marriages.

Marriage ceremonies in which either of the husband or wife is a divorced person, or in which one of the innocent parties to divorce obtained on the biblical grounds of infidelity, will not be performed by members of the Baptist Ministers' association, which comprises practically all ministers of that denomination in Atlanta, it was decided by the association at its annual meeting Monday.

Recently the Evangelical Ministers' association, which is composed of representatives of the various denominations in Atlanta, took the same position.

The divorce question will be discussed by the Methodist Ministers' association at its annual meeting Monday. It was announced Monday following their weekly meeting.

Dr. Willis S. Wilson, pastor of the West End Presbyterian church and head of the Presbyterian Ministers' association, stated Monday that he did not believe the pastors of his denomination would further act as if they believed in the validity of divorce. He said that he believed that the state should interfere in the matter.

Jeffares is reported to have been employed in Grady county, Georgia, a portion of his duty being to keep track of infected cattle from Florida out of that county. Mr. Bahnsen contends that Jeffares had quarantined the cattle and that he had posted due notice of the quarantine.

Concerning the requisition with which the sheriff was armed when he arrested Jeffares, Governor Hardwick said that the man was charged with stealing two cows and the requisition had been issued to enable the Florida sheriff to capture him and bring him to that state to answer those charges.

MAIL ROBBER JAILED

Starts Sentence Here for 3 Postoffice Crimes.

E. J. Thomas, alias Will Turner, a negro transient laborer, who robbed three postoffices between January 6, and January 10, 1922, was brought to Atlanta Sunday by deputy marshals from Savannah and placed in the Atlanta Federal Men's Reformatory to serve a sentence of five years.

Thomas, according to information on file in the postal inspector's office, robbed the Du Pont Co. postoffice on January 6; robbed the Haylow Co. office on January 9, and the Taylor Co. office on January 10.

He was arrested on January 12 at Valdosta by O. T. Hill, special railway detective, and $92 in stamps and a number of c. o. d. parcels which were taken from the Taylor office were recovered.

On application of the defendant, the case was transferred to the Savannah federal district, where he was quickly tried and sentenced by Judge William H. Barrett.

Dr. W. K. Stewart To Be Ordained For the Ministry

Elder S. H. Whately, prominent Primitive Baptist minister of Thomaston, Ga., will preach at the Atlanta Primitive Baptist church on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Following the Wednesday evening sermon, special services will be held at which Dr. W. K. Stewart, well known Atlanta physician, will be ordained for the ministry.

The ordination services will be conducted by Elder Whately and Elder W. H. Blackwell, pastor of the church.

AD MEN TO MEET IN BIRMINGHAM

Fourth District Executive Committee to Retain Secretary—Delegates Attend Ad Club Meeting Here Monday.

Birmingham was selected by the fourth district of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, for the annual convention by approximately 20 delegates who attended a one-day conference at the Ansley hotel Monday.

An executive committee was appointed at the meeting that will in turn appoint a district secretary, and designate the future district headquarters. These will be selected later.

The delegates attending are from many sections of the fourth district, which includes the southeastern states, Porto Rico, and Cuba. The executive committee is composed of L. J. Wilkoff, of Chattanooga, chairman; B. E. Hill, Nashville, Tenn.; Thad Hot, Birmingham, Ala.; C. M. Bass, Columbus, Ga. In addition to appointing the district secretary and selecting district headquarters, the committee will devise instructions for compensating and financing the field secretaries.

D. W. Webb, president of the association, presided. He was assisted by H. A. Camp, of Chattanooga, secretary and treasurer.

State Won't Aid Tick Inspector Held for Theft

Attorney General Will Take Hand in Cattle Dipping War Deaths.

Attorney General George M. Napier will personally take charge of the prosecution of the accused slayers of the cattle dipping war, it was announced Monday. Mr. Napier was instructed to go to Echols county and take possession of the case by Governor Hardwick on Monday and will go there on March 12. The Echols county grand jury and court will convene on Monday, March 13.

Governor Hardwick, however, will not order Attorney General Napier to appear for J. A. Jeffares, a Georgia cattle inspector, who was arrested several days ago on the charge of cattle stealing, in the trial to be held at Tallahassee, Fla., early in the next week.

Such action has been made by Peter F. Bahnsen, state veterinarian, on the ground that Jeffares was acting under instructions of the state, and the governor states that he is not fully acquainted with the facts in the case and that he does not believe that the state should interfere in the matter.

Jeffares is reported to have been employed in Grady county, Georgia, a portion of his duty being to keep track of infected cattle from Florida out of that county. Mr. Bahnsen contends that Jeffares had quarantined the cattle and that he had posted due notice of the quarantine.

Concerning the requisition with which the sheriff was armed when he arrested Jeffares, Governor Hardwick said that the man was charged with stealing two cows and the requisition had been issued to enable the Florida sheriff to capture him and bring him to that state to answer those charges.

Sick for Ten Years
Gained 60 Pounds
by Use of PE-RU-NA

Mr. John Wick

No matter how long you have been sick or how much you have suffered, you must not give up hope. Mr. John Wick, of Monmouth Falls, Wisconsin, did not and is a well man today. In September, 1918, he wrote: "I have been a user of Pe-ru-na for nearly twenty years. I had catarrh of the stomach for ten years. Nothing did me any good. I grew worse until a friend advised me to try Pe-ru-na. While using the first bottle, I felt I had found the right medicine. I am entirely cured. My weight was down to 135 pounds and now I weigh 195 pounds. I have used very little medicine for the last ten years."

The condition known as catarrh is not confined to the nose and throat. It may be found wherever there are mucous membranes and is responsible for a multitude of troubles. Coughs and colds are catarrh as well as stomach and bowel disorders.

Do as John Wick did. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. It stimulates digestion, aids in throwing off the poisonous secretions, enriches the blood, increases the resistance to disease and promotes good health generally.

Insist upon having genuine Pe-ru-na in either tablet or liquid form. Your dealer has it.

SOLDIER OF FORTUNE HOME FOR LEGACY

It is simply that he make his home in Georgia.

"Truth Is Stranger—"
It is the story of a life, which reads so romantically, which breathes such a spirit of devil-may-care, such a lurid tale of head-hunting, hard-hitting, quick-shooting fortune, you may doubt it.

But the man himself, Manuel Duke Ledbetter, told the story in his own phrase and simple word. Without one iota of bragadocio, in tones as matter-of-fact as though he were detailing the adventures of a broken-down clerk, he recounted the most amazing tale of human experience ever told outside the pages of fiction. Here it is: Manuel Duke Ledbetter, as a boy and youth, lived in Atlanta. In his youth he was bitten with a bicycle racing mania, and he rode races with his own Bobby Walworth. Twenty years ago on a certain track then new to Atlanta, but now almost forgotten.

Family Lives Here.
About 20 years ago Ledbetter decided to leave Georgia. At about the same time, or shortly thereafter—in later life memory is not exact as to every date—his family came here to live. He was there, he learned to live, the northern Chinese language and it is with his mother, his two sisters and his brother-in-law that he is now living. For Ledbetter came back to Georgia just a week or two ago to be paid that $300,000 for nothing more nor less than living in this state.

For twenty years Ledbetter has roamed the world, amazing experiences, feeling and living thrills such as no man ever before went through and lived to tell. But we'll tell some of these tales later. Now the story of Ledbetter's legacy must be told.

Back in 1910 he was camping on his own mining claim in the Cripple Creek, Colorado, district, then known as the wildest and roughest mining territory in the country.

The adjoining claim was owned by another native son of Georgia, one Colonel Joe Edwards. Edwards was camping on his claim with his wife.

Rides To Save Friends.
Edwards had, shortly before, purchased a claim from half a dozen Mexicans and there was some sort of dispute about his place on the claim. Ledbetter, who speaks Spanish fluently, overheard the conversation between a group of eight or ten Mexicans, passing his place on the claim. Edwards claimed. He overheard them boasting how they were going to kill Edwards if they didn't get the satisfaction of seeing their bodies in any other way. So Ledbetter jumped on his horse and raced the galloping Mexicans to the Edwards place.

Just as he got to the neighborhood, the flap opened and Edwards appeared, with his wife just behind him. One of the Mexicans, Zeno el Tarro, raised his revolver to fire. But as he did, Ledbetter shot from the hip, and the Mexican's gun was knocked from his hand. At the same moment another Mexican shot at Ledbetter, passing him, and he was shot in the back. Ledbetter, wounded his wife, standing behind.

Then Ledbetter began firing with both hands. He was a champion revolver shot. In deadly earnest he fired with either hand from his hip. In sport, he has broken a thousand world's revolver marksmanship championships and has medals and awards galore for his shooting. One of these awards, by the way, is a great silver ring, adorned with a magnificent fourteen-carat diamond.

Ledbetter held off the enraged Mexicans until a posse of rescuers made up of American miners, arrived. But when they came three of the Mexicans were dead. Ledbetter was shot in two places, his horse was shot dead, passing him, and he was badly beaten about the face and head.

Reward and Arrested.
Edwards realized on the spot that Ledbetter had saved his life. He gave him, there and then, $30,000 as a reward. Ledbetter, however, was arrested and charged with murdering three Mexicans and the third Georgian, in the story.

The judge presiding at the murder trial was Judge D. A. Walker, who pronounced the man a madman, and son of one of Georgia's oldest and proudest families. His father was Dawson A. Walker, of Dalton, Ga., and at one time a justice of the supreme court of Georgia.

The jury which tried Ledbetter was out fifteen minutes before bringing in a verdict of "not guilty."

Now comes the $300,000.

Edwards saved his life. He is today, says Ledbetter, worth fifteen million dollars. And he has written a will. You can read his letter telling of his provisions, in the facsimile out at the head of this story.

Briefly, as further reward for the saving of his life, he leaves $300,000 to Ledbetter, on condition that he come to Georgia to live the rest of his life, and that he make certain gifts to Atlanta and Georgia institutions.

Colonel Edwards himself is a native of Atlanta. The letter tells he was born here in 1849. His father and mother are both buried here. His father was killed during the war between the states, and you will note, Edwards intends to come to Georgia to spend the declining years of his life. He is now traveling in Europe with his children.

Judge Walker presiding.
So there you have the story of the three Georgians. Incidentally, Judge Walker, is a former newspaperman and at one time was on the staff of "The Constitution."

Now for some details about the life of Ledbetter. Please remember as you read, that these things were told not vaingloriously, not apologetically, nor yet with undue modesty. They were pieced together, bit by bit, as the yarn came out in conversation. Ledbetter told the incidents in matter of fact, everyday tones, evidently not stressing them as unusual, nor yet not forgetting that they were interesting stories to his hearer.

To begin with, this man, Ledbetter admits that he possesses the greatest natural gifts the gods ever bestowed upon a human. He was a natural, with the ability of a great painter. He also does marvelous work as a sculptor and is a musician of unlimited talent. He never studied for a day in any of these arts, yet he plays any musical instrument there is which possesses strings or notes. And his paintings have been pronounced good, with tremendous power of life, graceful line and fine perspective, by an artist who is trained to competent judge, who has studied himself under the greatest masters of America and who is familiar with all the exhibited works of the great painters of today and of the past.

Ledbetter has worked as a cartoonist on a Cuban newspaper. It was there he learned his first Spanish.

Patrolled Chinatown.
He was a plainclothes member of the San Francisco police force during the administration of Mayor Abe Ruef, assigned to the Chinatown district. It was there he learned to live, the northern Chinese language and it is with his mother, his two sisters and his brother-in-law that he is now living.

He has traveled the wide world over, several times. He has covered every state in the union 15 times. He has been broncho buster, two-gun man, circus performer, professional bicycle racer, northwest mounted policeman and bull fighter.

He was the originator of that hair-raising stunt, "looping the loop on a bicycle," and traveled all over Europe for a year, with the Ringling Brothers circus, doing this act twice daily.

He fought bulls in the arena at Madrid, Spain. That was six years ago, when he performed in the bull-ring for three consecutive Sundays. He has fought eight bulls and whipped seven of them.

Gored by Bull.
On July 4, last, he fought a bull in the ring at Juarez, Mexico, and, while he was but, he was badly injured in the fight. Three ribs were broken, teeth knocked out and the muscles of his left arm, at the shoulder, torn out. Today he cannot lift with that arm at all.

In his 20 years of roving, he has saved 14 lives, been in five shipwrecks and four train wrecks.

And once, 15 years ago, he visited Atlanta, bringing with him $32,000 in gold. He called at The Constitution, had his picture run in the paper with the story of his gold, deposited it in a bank and went on his way with a letter of credit for the amount.

During his San Francisco days he was engaged in work as a plainclothes policeman, which took him into Chinese underworld dives of such character that it was a rule of the department that such men should work must leave their complete name and address and instructions for disposal of their bodies, in event the even chance of death came.

Painted for Chaplin.
He has hobnobbed with the great, famous and the notorious in all parts of the world. He has, for one thing, a great decorative panel, which he painted one day in Hollywood. It took him exactly two hours to finish and all the time he worked before an audience consisting of Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and Charlie Chaplin.

And now he is back in Atlanta, to live out the balance of his life in peace. By so doing he will receive the $300,000 which his friend of the wild Cripple Creek days has donated him "for his own good," as the donor explains.

He arrived in Atlanta a few weeks ago, coming here from Seattle. That, however, was not his first visit to do with the story, merely being the incidental spot where he took the train which was to lead him to the end of his journey.

WOMEN WILL HELP CIVIC MOVEMENTS

Central Park, Y. W. C. A. Building and the Stone Mountain Memorial Indorsed by Woman's Chamber.

What was described by members as "an enthusiastic manifestation of the famous Atlanta spirit" developed at the home-coming dinner and meeting of the women's division of the chamber of commerce Monday night when the organization pledged itself to support the movement to establish a central park, the movement for a Y. W. C. A. building here and the Stone Mountain memorial project.

Miss Mabel B. Kendrick, chairman of the women's division, presided. The program was arranged by Mrs. Margaret Kennedy McCreary. Miss Bonnie Barnhardt rendered a number of selections, playing and singing.

Miss Kendrick introduced Edward Tomlinson, of the Alkahest Lyceum bureau, who spoke on "Immigration." He called attention to the fact that in America there are 14,000,000 people of foreign birth, representing thirty-six racial groups and using forty-two different languages. He advocated immigration restrictions and regulations which would enable America to select her foreign citizens, and declared that after they are admitted they should be absorbed into citizenship, and not neglected and allowed to remain foreigners in sentiment as well as in birth.

An open forum discussion of what the women's division should do for Atlanta followed the address of Mr. Tomlinson. Indorsement was made of the central park project, the plan project, "clean-up campaign," the proposed Y. W. C. A. building, the Girl Scouts movement, the Stone Mountain memorial project and a course of study in civics.

During the open forum discussion it was developed that not one present at the meeting was a native born Atlanta, but all declared themselves residents of Atlanta because they had rather be there than anywhere else.

LOEW EXECUTIVE HERE
E. A. Schiller Inspects Local Vaudeville House.

E. A. Schiller, general representative of Loew's, Inc., and former southern representative of Loew's in Atlanta Monday night on a tour of the Loew vaudeville circuit houses. Mr. Schiller stated Monday night that he expects to be here until Wednesday and will spend most of his time in Atlanta at Loew's Grand with Manager Tom James.

"I am merely touring the Loew circuit," he said, "and not staying here. I do this regularly, making the round of the circuit once or twice each year. This is the first time I've been in Atlanta and the south in six or seven months, and things are looking mighty good."

Prosperity seems to be the predominant note, and general conditions would lead one to believe that the theatrical business and all lines of industry are facing an excellent situation in the south."

HOW DOCTORS
TREAT COLDS
AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a
Brisk Purgative With Calomel, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calomel, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver is a great help towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calomels on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water, will take care of the matter, without the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calomels are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size.—(adv.)

WIDELY KNOWN ENGINEER DIES AT HOME MONDAY

Ed M. Liddell, 56, well-known Atlanta railroad engineer, died Monday morning at his home, 100 Lovejoy street. Mr. Liddell was prominent in fraternal and railroad circles in Atlanta, and was one of the oldest employees of the Southern railroad in service. His run before his death was between Macon and Atlanta.

He was a member of the Rock Springs Presbyterian church, the B. D. E. W., and the Order of Eagles. He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Mangon Hester; one son, Edwin Liddell; one sister, Mrs. J. S. Johnson; three brothers, Dr. Frank Liddell, Atlanta, Texas, and two sons, Dr. Roy Liddell, and one son, Mrs. S. E. Brockman. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by H. M. Patterson & Son.

INDUSTRY AND HEALTH MEETING IN SAVANNAH

The Municipal League of Georgia has accepted the invitation of the city of Savannah and the Savannah Board of Trade to meet in Savannah, March 29, to consider industrial development and health problems of the state. It was announced Monday by Gordon Sausy, president of the league, and member of the executive committee.

All mayors and city attorneys, all county commissioners and health officers in the state are being invited.

"CLEAN-UP WEEK"
MEETING CALLED BY MAYOR SIMS

Mayor Walter A. Sims, Monday, following a conference with Benjamin D. Watkins, chairman of the "clean-up week" committee, issued an appeal to all citizens of Atlanta and department heads of the city, to attend a meeting at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the city council chamber for the purpose of discussing the movement.

The "clean-up and paint-up" campaign will be observed in Atlanta, as well as the entire nation, during the period ensuing between March 15 and April 1, under the auspices of the junior chamber of commerce.

Virtually all civic organizations have pledged co-operation in the movement.

GATE CITY GUARDS SPONSOR PROGRAM

Unusually Enjoyable Program Arranged by Atlanta's Oldest Military Organization.

A more enjoyable and entertaining musical program than last night's 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock offering has not been heard from this station in many months. The Gate City Guards, the oldest military organization in the city—organized in 1856—sponsored the splendid arrangement.

Bill Lowe, known as the "back-seat private in the rear rank" in the organization, announced the program in his own inimitable style. Bill is also the "watch-dog" of the treasury of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and his voice has been heard on previous occasions from this station. He has an abundance of ready wit and a very pleasing voice and makes a jam-up announcer.

Joe Herman, prominent young Atlanta attorney, opened the program with a short talk in which he gave the history of the military organization. His talk was extremely interesting and a fitting number with which to open the beautiful program. The surprise of the evening, perhaps, was the "comback" of Bob Troy, member of the guards and the efficient secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. In his "palmy days," i.e. before he reached the twenty-fifth milestone in life, Bob was one of the city's "brag" singers. In fact, he was a splendid singer but business and married life had had more attractions for Bob than voice teachers for the past two or three years, and he had given up his vocal work. His debut as a singer to radio fans was most pleasing, however, as he displayed all the cunning of yesteryear and gave "The Rosary" and other of the widely loved song numbers beautifully. He has a rich, natural baritone voice and his volume and quality was strongly emphasized in his numbers last night.

Roy Coleman, another well-known Atlanta baritone, tickled the other waves with "Sugar Blues" and other delightful numbers. He is widely known in musical circles in Atlanta and his numbers last night were outstanding. Mr. Coleman has a well-trained, racy and very mellow voice. Miss Lillian McDonald, talented and winsome young lyric soprano, was unusually good in her contributions. She is one of WGM's most popular artists and her appearance on a program at this station is a signal for general applause. She enjoys enviable popularity with WGM listeners.

Loulette Crutfield, accomplished and highly trained pianist, was heard in a number of delightful piano selections. If he had yielded to requests from Atlanta listeners he would be playing several hours. He is one of the best pianists ever heard at this station and his return to WGM will be welcomed.

Mrs. Roy Coleman and Mrs. M. L. Troy divided honors in giving the piano accompaniments for the vocal numbers.

Mrs. Coleman has been heard by fans before and is a talented and trained pianist whose contributions to radio programs are delightful features.

Mrs. Troy made her debut to fans in the accompaniments for songs her son, Bob. She is a gifted artist and displayed unusual ability. In style, touch, finish and tone, she gave every evidence of being a finished pianist.

A unique and very fitting feature of the broadcast last night was the opening of the program with bugle

The Warren-Davis Southerners

Left to right: Leon Nixon, banjo; Vic Myers, saxophone; Charley Sullivan, piano; Calie J. Warren, violin (director); L. Hobson Davis, drummer (manager). This popular Atlanta orchestra was recently heard at this station, and will play again for WGM fans on the 9:30 to 10:30 program Monday night, March 5. The Southerners are well-known in Atlanta and fully capable of pleasing lovers of orchestra music.

Jimmy Finley Heard at WGM At Early Hour

Popular Baritone and Pianist Assisted by Trio of Artists.

Jimmy Finley, Station WGM's popular and talented baritone and pianist, delighted listeners to the 6 to 7 o'clock broadcast from this station last night with a number of popular songs and piano selections. He was ably assisted by Miss Marjorie Brannen, dramatic soprano; Joseph Rosse, tenor, and E. F. Rosse, pianist. Jimmy Finley is too well known to fans to require any introductory words. His snappy songs and jazzy piano selections are distinct features of any program on which he appears. He enjoys wide popularity with fans and is always enthusiastically welcomed at this station. His contributions last night included "Lovin' Sam," "Too Tight," "Tonsie," "Answer," "My Buddy" and other vocal solos. Miss Brannen, gifted and charming young dramatic soprano, gave "Chansonette," and a number of semi-classical selections. Her voice is one of unusual quality and richness and it was most beautiful in her numbers. This talented young singer will be heard again at this station at an early date.

Joseph Rosse, dramatic tenor, gave "All For You," and "Dreams of Long Ago." His numbers were unusually delightful.

For Weekly Quiet Night Carson Praises WGM Action

President and Former Head of Radio Club Laud Step Taken by The Constitution.

Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, on Monday found a generous response to its decision, announced Sunday, to stand by on Wednesday nights so that owners of vacuum tube receivers may listen to distant concerts.

Heading the list of congratulatory messages which poured into Station WGM was that from D. B. Carson, the "big boss" of radio by virtue of his position of commissioner of navigation in the department of commerce.

Among others who voiced their appreciation for Station WGM's action were Walter Dobbins, president of the Atlanta Radio club, and R. deVore, a former president of the Radio club.

In giving up its concert hours on Wednesday to listeners in Atlanta to distant concerts, Station WGM will present each Wednesday at midnight a concert of one hour's duration to be known as its Pacific coast concert. This special concert each week will be given especially for Pacific coast listeners.

Mr. Carson sent the following message to Station WGM, The Constitution, late yesterday:

It is indeed a commendable action on the part of Station WGM, The Constitution, to initiate one quiet night a week in Atlanta.

In nearly all cities where there are more than one broadcasting station, a quiet night is now in effect and it has been a boon to those possessors of high-priced receiving equipment who desire to listen to concerts from some distance. It is especially commendable that your station has taken action for a quiet night weekly in view of the fact that Atlanta has the quiet hour each night. It means that Atlanta listeners have more time than listeners in any other city where there is broadcasting to listen to the distant concerts.

Station WGM is to be warmly congratulated for its progressive action in taking the lead in the movement for one quiet night weekly in Atlanta.

Statement by Dobbins. The following is the statement issued yesterday by Mr. Dobbins, as president of the Radio club:

As president of the Atlanta Radio club, it is a pleasure for me to congratulate Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, on its action in voluntarily setting aside one night each week in which to remain silent.

For several weeks petitions have been in circulation among owners of vacuum tubes receiving sets for the purpose of urging the three local broadcasting stations to observe a quiet night each week. The Constitution is the only one of these three stations to actually make and announce a decision in the matter, although one of the other stations has agreed to regard favorably any step in this direction.

In voluntarily setting aside Wednesday night on which to remain silent, The Constitution has given material assistance in Atlanta to the movement which is in effect in virtually all cities of the country where there are two or more broadcasting stations.

The letter written to The Constitution by Mr. deVore is as follows: "I noted in Sunday's Constitution your decision to discontinue your Wednesday night 6 and 9:30 o'clock programs to enable vacuum tube set owners to listen in on long-distance concerts."

I am one of the thousands of tube-set owners in Atlanta and vicinity and I am sure I am joined by the others of these thousands when I express my appreciation of The Constitution's commendable action.

"While your 6 and 9:30 o'clock concerts on Wednesday have been mostly thoroughly enjoyed and while it is regretted that crystal set owners will be deprived of their regular entertainment at these hours, it is surely the greatest good for the greatest number in that you not only favor the long-distance listeners in Atlanta, but supply on the same evening a midnight concert for the western and Pacific coast fans."

We appreciate The Constitution's progressive step in the matter.

"Coming In Fine."

Atlanta Constitution—Dear Sirs: Your concerts have been coming in fine. We are 280 miles west of Chicago.

Yours, JOHNSTON BROS. Brooklyn, Iowa.

EARLY BROADCAST OFFERS FEATURES

Miss Lillian McDonald, Lyric Soprano, in Charge of Arrangements for Tonight's Offering.

Station WGM's 6 to 7 o'clock program tonight has been sponsored and arranged by Miss Lillian McDonald, winsome and highly gifted young lyric soprano. Included in the arrangement will be a group of popular and talented artists, some of whom have been heard from this station many times.

Miss McDonald is a finished pianist, in addition to her vocal attainments, and will appear in the double role tonight. She is extremely popular with radio fans and is heartily welcomed by listeners. Miss McDonald has a remarkably flexible and expressive voice which will greatly please song lovers who tune in for the early offering.

Other popular radio entertainers will appear on Miss McDonald's program, and the offering promises to be of variety and many interesting features.

Festive Attire For Elberton, Awaiting Shrine

Special Trainload Leaves Atlanta This Morning to Attend Ceremonial.

Elberton, Ga., February 26.—(Special.)—Tonight Elberton appears in gay attire ready for the Shrine ceremonial tomorrow. Heavy rains this afternoon and tonight retarded decorations but they will be completed by tomorrow.

A large gateway has been placed at the depot.

The ladies have made special plans for entertainment of the lady visitors during the afternoon. Advance sale of tickets for the minstrel tomorrow night have been good and a crowded house is expected. General Chairman J. E. Ashbury has devoted his time to every detail.

A great crowd will meet the special train from Atlanta at 1 p. m., and a royal welcome will be given the visitors.

W. Bayne Gibson, illustrious potentate of Yaarab temple, will make the pilgrimage to Elberton from Atlanta with the minstrels, attended by the divan, band patrol, oriental band, chanters and degree team to put on the ceremonial here.

Elberton has one of the largest Shrine clubs in this section of the state and its members, aided by the citizens of Elberton, have made extensive plans for the entertainment of the visitors.

TRAIN LEAVES AT 7:30 TODAY.

An all-steel special Shrine train under personal supervision of Assistant General Passenger Agent Noble Fred Geissler, leaves the Terminal station at 7:30 o'clock this morning over the Seaboard Air Line for Elberton, Ga.

Miss Dixon Drowns.

Athens, Ga., February 26.—Athens relatives of Miss Myrtle Dixon, 19, formerly of this city, learned today that she was drowned early this morning at Fort Meade, Fla., when she lost control of the car she was driving and let it run into an abandoned phosphate pit, where she and the car were immediately covered with the stagnant water and other contents of the pit.

Likes Station WGM.

WGM—Gentlemen: Having been hearing your station quite regularly, am able to operate a magnavox on your signals, with a Grebe CR-9.

Yours truly, LORIN KAY, 1342 Richland court, Milwaukee, Wis.

NEW INSURANCE EDICT EFFECTIVE FIRST OF MARCH

The edict of the state insurance commissioners, reducing and regulating commissions to local and general agents, and further regulating acquisition costs on certain casualty lines of insurance, goes into effect March 1, according to announcement yesterday of Tilton Forbes, resident manager of the southeastern department of the Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance company, 523 Grant building.

"This ruling of the state commissioners is one of far-reaching effect and importance to all engaged in the insurance business," Forbes said in discussing the matter. "While only certain casualty lines are affected now, it has already been announced that other lines, including accident and health, fidelity and surety bonds, will also come under the commission cuts of the commissioners."

"The lines of insurance affected March 1 are burglary, hold-up, plate glass, liability, employers', automobile, general, public and compensation. The reduction in commissions of agents means the eventual reduction in the costs of insurance to the consumer or policyholder."

"The ruling allows the appointment of agents under preferential contracts which permit certain additional allowances in the way of commissions. Each company writing the casualty lines regulated is allowed eight such excess commission contracts in the state of Georgia, six in Tennessee, five in South Carolina, six in Florida and seven in Alabama.

Heaven to Be Earth Recreated, Evangelist Says at Cable Hall

Heaven will be the earth made new again, and the beauties and joys which await the saints are not far distant, in the opinion of Evangelist Booth, who appeared Monday night at Cable Hall, taking for his subject "Heaven."

"God created the earth in the beginning," he said. "It was perfect. Man was also made perfect and placed on the earth. It was God's plan that man and the world would continue perfect. Sin, however, has brought death to man, and the curse has also rested on all creation."

"The Second Coming of Christ" will be the theme of Mr. Booth Sunday, March 4, 7:30 p. m., at the Rialto theater.

In DRUID HILLS

Lots are now available for $2,500

TWELVE years of development at a cost of over two million dollar have made Druid Hills the show place of the South. All the natural beauty has been preserved and enhanced by the skill and artistry of famous landscape architects.

Always beautiful, Druid Hills takes on a new loveliness in the springtime when the millions of dogwood blossoms and wild flowers turn it into a veritable garden bower. Fourteen miles of boulevards wind in and out the softly undulating hills, presenting at every turn a new vista of enchanting beauty.

There is nothing of the raw barrenness, the muddy streets, the lack of foliage that is characteristic of newly developed subdivisions. Druid Hills is not in any sense a subdivision! It is, permanently, one of the fine residential sections in Atlanta, as is evidenced by the hundreds of beautiful homes there, whose aggregate cost is over five million dollars.

Here, then is a place to really live! To build a permanent home in beautiful surroundings—secure in the knowledge that nothing that is undesirable can ever encroach upon your property, because of the permanent restrictions that have been thrown around Druid Hills. Neither stores, filling stations, apartment houses—not even a duplex house—can be built there. This is a community where your children will be proud to carry their childhood friendships through life.

Excellent transportation facilities are provided by two car lines: Ponce de Leon-Druid Hills and Emory University. Announcement has been made that the Druid Hills car line will be immediately extended to East Lake Road. Water, gas and sewer mains as well as light and telephone lines are laid to the owner's property line affording every convenience.

A home in Druid Hills is now within your means. A number of desirably located lots will be offered at $2,500 each. Larger lots may be obtained at conservative considerations.

For your convenience we are maintaining an office at the corner of North Decatur and Oxford Roads where you may always find someone to show you over the property, or you may secure full details at our downtown office.

Has your mealtime drink said "Pay up!"

A GOOD many people have had that message from coffee or tea after the drug, caffeine, has had its effect upon nerves or digestion.

Frequently the message comes at night, when nerves won't quiet down and sleep won't come, after the dinner cup of coffee.

There's no unfriendly after-notice from that good cereal beverage, Postum.

Postum delights the taste, gives comfort and satisfaction, and is free from any possibility of harm to health.

Try Postum with your meals for a few days and let the whole family, the children included, share in its appetizing, invigorating goodness. It will bring better nights and brighter mornings.

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully twenty minutes.

Pi Kappa Phi Banquet Will Honor Noted Composer

Thurston Lierance, the world's foremost composer and interpreter of Indian music, will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given by the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity this evening from 8:30 to 9 o'clock at the Georgian Terrace hotel. The guests will also include Mrs. Thurston Lierance, noted soprano, and George B. Tack, flutist.

Mr. Lierance is one of the most distinguished alumni members of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, being affiliated with the chapter at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln. For many years he has been recognized as the greatest living authority on Indian music. His compositions number several hundred, among the best known of which is "By the Waters of Minnetonka." This selection is one of the most popular in the repertoire of the Emory Glee club.

Although Mr. Lierance's concert work requires him to be away from Lincoln a great deal, he is a member of the faculty at the University of Nebraska and still maintains an active interest in his college fraternity.

One reason why he has been anticipating his visit to Atlanta with such pleasure is that there are three chapters of Pi Kappa Phi in Atlanta and five in Georgia. Only one other national fraternity is so well represented.

Colonel Ray K. Smathers, director of athletics at Emory university and regional advisor for Pi Kappa Phi, will act as toastmaster at the banquet. Others on the committee in charge are Captain W. M. E. Sullivan, president of the Atlanta Alumni chapter; W. C. Verador, of the Oglethorpe Players' club; Harry Gordon, of the Tech Glee club; and Raymond Nixon, of the Emory Glee club.

Active members of the Pi Kappa Phi chapters at Tech, Emory and Oglethorpe, as well as the Atlanta alumni, are expected to attend the dinner. Reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Smathers at the Ward Wight Realty company.

The Lierance party will appear in concert Wednesday afternoon at the auditorium of the Woman's club, and a large number of Pi Kappa Phi will be present.

Benefit Bridge At U.D.C. Chapter House Wednesday

The second of a series of bridge parties being given by the United Daughters of Confederacy will take place at the chapter house at 10:30 Wednesday morning. Mrs. Emmie Wynne Ballew, sponsor. The tables are $1, or 25 cents for each player.

Those having table reservations include, Mrs. L. N. Hyatt, Mrs. Myron Stilton, Mrs. W. E. Finch, Mrs. J. H. Beckham, Mrs. George Brannigan, Miss Wright, Mrs. J. Perry Greene, Mrs. Frank Penny, Mrs. G. A. Noyes, Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. A. Woodward, Mrs. John Hogan, Mrs. Shore, Mrs. Basil Stockbridge, Mrs. Jack Salmon, Mrs. B. F. Market, Mrs. T. Stevens, Mrs. Gadsden Russell, Mrs. P. C. Gilham, Mrs. Clinton Reed.

Anyone desiring table reservations can secure them by calling the U. D. C. chapter house or Mrs. Ballew at Hickock 6357-W.

Drama League Will Present Varied Program

The Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Drama League will be unusually attractive and varied. "Conte," a delightful little Irish comedy of Lady Gregory will be read by E. P. Ennis and Cyril Smith, both well known to all Drama League members; Miss Evelyn Lovett will interpret, in costume, "Lord Ronald," an old Scotch ballad and, also in charming medieval dress, "Fiddler," a sketch written especially for her by Miss Kate Edwards, the well known painter.

And last but not least, there will be a performance of a delightful little French comedy, "Rosalie," by Mrs. Fernaglin, Mrs. Ennis and Charles Lorrain. No cleverer cast has ever appeared before the Drama League, and the hilarious humor of the play will be duly appreciated by anyone who has ever tried to coax or train a stupid servant.

As usual, the meeting will be held at Egleston hall at 3:15 o'clock and admission to non-members will be 50 cents. Membership tickets, of course, will admit members.

Mrs. Hugh Scott Entertains at Tea.

Mrs. Hugh Scott was a lovely hostess on Monday afternoon when she entertained at tea at the Piedmont Driving club complimentary to her guest, Mrs. Harry Backus, of North East, Pa., and for Mrs. C. W. Nash, of Kenosha, Wis., the guest of Mrs. Robert Margen.

The prettily appointed tea table which was placed in the gray room of the club was adorned with a silver basket filled with spring flowers. Covers were laid for ten guests.

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Worcester, Mass. — "I had some trouble caused by a female weakness and got so run-down and weak from it that I could hardly stand or walk across the floor. The doctor gave me all kinds of pills, but nothing helped me. I happened to meet a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I thought I would try it. After taking it a week I began to improve, and now I feel fine and am doing all of my housework, including washing, sewing and house cleaning. I have recommended your medicine to my friends, and I am willing for you to use this letter as a testimonial, as I would like to help any one suffering the way I did from such a weakness."—Mrs. DELIA HICKEY, 4 S. Features Which Will Interest Every Woman

M. RICH & BROS. COMPANY

This Is Not Leap Year!

SAD fact, but true! And, among other things, it means there are not twenty-nine days in the February of the great Rich Furniture Sale.

—Only two more days in which to take advantage of the splendid reductions from 12% to 33 1-3% on all furniture of lifetime, heirloom quality—furniture you can enjoy now and that Jeanne and Johnny can grow up with and grow old with.

"Tell Me What You Like"

"and I'll tell you what you are," said John Ruskin. If you could have told him that you like Windsor chairs and books—and other similar things—he probably would have told you something pretty nice about "what you are."

—If you'd like for people more or less like Ruskin to think pleasant things about you and your home, you'd better buy some Windsor chairs before the February Sale prices are withdrawn.

—Very graceful, very feminine Windsor chairs are now priced from $10.85 to $17.50.

'Home-Keeping Hearts Are Happiest' and since Betty beguiled Bob to Rich's February Furniture Sale she's heard that quotation a dozen times. He simply cannot be lured to a movie any more.

This big chair, she knows perfectly well, is the cause of the trouble but, knowing it has added as much to the beauty of her room as to the comfort of Bob, she is more or less submissive.

—There are still some chairs, very much like Bob's, on Rich's Fourth Floor, Sale priced from $39.50 to $75.

"A Book of Verse—and Thou"

—beside me smoking on the davenport—is one of the present-day improvements on "singing in the wilderness." No, we may not approve of "smokes for all," but we do encourage davenports for all. If there's a piece of furniture that promotes conviviality and congeniality and comfort—and all that—it certainly is a davenport.

—Rich's Sale offers big, lazy-looking, luxurious davenports from $89 to $275.

The Most Popular Club

—The February Sale has added many names to the celebrated Household Club. The exceptional privileges of buying at these special Sale prices with the pay-a-little-at-a-time opportunities of the Club have been widely recognized. There are no interest charges, either.

—Just two more days!

Nominating Committee Is Appointed by Woman's Club

BY MAINER LEE TOLER.

The Atlanta Woman's club held its semi-monthly meeting Monday afternoon in the auditorium of the club, with Mrs. B. M. Boykin, the president, presiding.

In the business session reports of the secretary, treasurer and different chairmen were read and approved.

Nominating Committee. The outstanding feature of the meeting was the appointing of the nominating committee, to nominate new officers of the club, the election to take place in May. The following were nominated to serve on this committee: Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, Mrs. Irving Thomas, Mrs. D. F. Stevenson, Mrs. Charles Rice and Mrs. Charles Chalmers.

A resolution from the department of education endorsing "The Big Brother movement for the education of wayward boys and girls" was presented by Mrs. R. K. Rambo, chairman of resolutions, and was adopted.

The following new members were announced by Mrs. W. D. Williamson, chairman of membership, and were welcomed into the club: Mrs. William C. Wardlaw, Mrs. Edward W. Lee, Mrs. H. A. Eshridge, Mrs. Frank G. North and Mrs. E. M. Buchanan.

Flag Presented. Mrs. R. P. Brooks, of Forsyth, Ga., who is a life member of the Atlanta Woman's club, was a distinguished member present and presented to the club a very handsome American flag. In presenting this flag Mrs. Brooks said an eloquent tribute to the Atlanta Woman's club, and as she unfurled the Stars and Stripes the entire membership arose to their feet with reverence and patriotism while Mrs. Charles Chalmers played "The Star-Spangled Banner." Mrs. Boykin, in a most gracious manner, accepted this beautiful flag in behalf of the Atlanta Woman's club.

Mrs. Brooks is a widely known woman throughout the state, having been the founder of the Daughters of the American Revolution chapter in Forsyth, Ga. She is also noted as a writer, being the author of "The Evolution of an American Flag," which is a correct history of our flag.

Other distinguished guests introduced to the club were Mrs. Walter George, wife of Georgia's junior United States senator, and Mrs. Jane Decker Rippen, national director of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Durham Makes Plea. Mrs. Plato Durham appealed to the members of the club to give their moral and financial support to the great work of the Y. W. C. A. which is going on at the present time.

Announcement was made by Mrs. B. M. Boykin of the special invitation to all members of Atlanta to attend the Howard and Alpha theaters next Saturday morning as the guests of the Atlanta better films committee.

The Girl Scouts of Atlanta will assist in receiving the mothers and every arrangement has been made to make a gala occasion of the March 3 boys and girls' matinee, according to Mrs. Boykin, president of the Atlanta better films committee.

to Mrs. Boykin, president of the Atlanta better films committee.

Miss Tarbell's Lecture. The attention of the members of the club was called to the lecture to be given by Miss Ida Tarbell on Tuesday evening, February 27, in the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium. Miss Tarbell is the fourth lecturer on the Atlanta Woman's club lecture series and her coming has been the signal for renewed interest in the cultural opportunity afforded Atlanta through these popular lectures. Attention was called to the fact that season tickets for the series cover this lecture and that single admission tickets may be obtained at the Cable Piano company all day Tuesday. The ticket sale will be transferred to the box office of the Woman's club auditorium at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. T. G. Delph and the Atlanta Woman's club Girl Scout troop will be hostesses at the Girl Scout rally at the Woman's club auditorium on Tuesday afternoon, February 27. This rally is in honor of the national executive, Mrs. Jane Decker Rippen, who is inspecting the Atlanta work, and Mrs. Boykin, Mrs. Delph, captain of Troop 8, and the scouts have planned a cordial welcome and an afternoon of deep interest to all scouts and their parents.

It was reported that 400 women were present at the opening of the cooking school Monday morning. The interest manifested by the young matrons and debutantes in the cooking school was remarkable, as a large number were present to take advantage of this opportunity. The cooking school will be conducted each morning of this week in the club auditorium and all Atlanta women are cordially invited to attend. Single admissions to any one morning's demonstrations will be 50 cents each, obtainable at the school immediately preceding the opening hour.

One-Act Plays. Mrs. Marvin Underwood, chairman of the art department, announced the presentation of three one-act plays to be given by the Black Friars' club of Agnes Scott college in the club auditorium on March 6, the proceeds to be given through the art department for the benefit of the arts and craft work of Tallulah.

Announcement was made that a meeting would be held Saturday afternoon, March 3, at 3 o'clock, for the children of all the club members in the auditorium. The children will be delightfully entertained with stories, music and song. The better films committee has secured a splendid picture and it will be shown to the children for the first time in Atlanta.

The children's division is a part of the public welfare department, of which Mrs. E. H. Goodhart is chairman. Every member of the club is urged to have her children attend this delightful entertainment.

Interesting Program. At the close of the business session the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Charles Chalmers, chairman of program. Mrs. Chalmers is one of Atlanta's most accomplished musicians, and she presented a most interesting and inspiring program, which included artists of rare ability.

Miss Margaret Battle, noted Atlanta voice teacher, rendered several soprano solos.

Harry Pomar, well-known violinist and composer, added much to the program.

Mrs. Dora Hood Jackson, gifted reader and director of the Oglethorpe players, also president of the Little Theater guild, was enthusiastically received when she gave "The Lady

Home Maker Leads Fullest Life Says Noted Woman Writer

Miss Ida Tarbell, the noted writer and lecturer who believes firmly in the business of being a woman and making a home. Internationally known for her writings and ideas on the subject of women's place in society, Miss Tarbell knows whereof she speaks and holds opinions that are broad-minded and sane. She will speak this evening at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium on "Woman's New Relation to Public Affairs."

Surprise Party For Rev. Horton.

A delightful event of Thursday evening was a surprise party at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Jack Horton on Mason and Turner road in celebration of Rev. Horton's birthday. Jack Taggart in his inimitable way presented to Rev. Horton a package, which was found to contain a sum of money and expressed in behalf of those present his appreciation of Mr. Horton's work at Bethany church in Grove Park.

The pupils of Mrs. William Clark Spiker, in their interpretative dancing, were a distinct feature of the program, and were most graceful and artistic in their interpretations, and reflected much credit on their instructor, Mrs. Spiker, nationally known for her ability.

The club is sincerely grateful to all these talented guests for their most generous contributions to this most delightful program.

The next meeting of the club will be held on March 7 and Mrs. Charles Center, chairman of junior civics, will be in charge of the program.

At the dance, the theater, or wherever fashionable people congregate, there's just as much necessity for wearing correct glasses as there is for wearing dress shoes.

Eyes fitted in "Hawkes Glasses" are noticeably well-groomed in any company. That's because glasses are attractive, comfortable and harmonize with the features and the costume.

We have a specially selected stock of frames for all occasions. See them in our window next time you pass.

Metropolitan Club To Give Dance.

There will be an informal dance at Roseland hall Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Metropolitan club. These dances are given every Wednesday night and are largely attended by the younger set. Music will be furnished by the Georgia Serenaders orchestra of eight pieces. Former visitors are cordially invited.

Luckie Street P-T-A. Holds Daddies' Meeting.

The Luckie Street School P-T-A. held a "daddies' meeting" Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. George Sims presided over the meeting with usual grace and charm. After reading of the minutes and hearing from the treasurer's report, the regular business of the meeting was postponed and the association went immediately into the program of the evening.

A musical program included was, "I Bring You a Gift of Roses," sung by Miss Martha Crane. The beautiful soprano voice of Miss Crane has made her quite a favorite with music-lovers of Atlanta. Mr. Roby, a Tech student, sang "Because," in a splendid baritone voice, and a magnificent accompaniment. Some of the children of the school composed the orchestra and rendered several selections during the evening.

W. A. Sutton, guest and speaker of the evening, gave us a most forceful talk on "A Real School Program" for Atlanta, in which he made an earnest plea for a unified system of public schools, based on a principle embodying fourteen main points. He spoke appealingly on the advantages to be derived from having large school grounds, better equipped and fire-proof buildings. He ended by urging the parents to co-operate more fully with the teachers, telling us that the mutual benefit derived by both teachers and children from such co-operation.

The count of "daddies and mothers" showed Miss Baggus and Mrs. Kendrick's rooms to have the largest number present. After the meeting delicious refreshments were served.

College Park Woman's Club Meeting.

The College Park Woman's club held a most interesting meeting on last Wednesday afternoon, February 14, in recognition of the patriotic holiday the meeting was opened by the club singing in chorus the national hymn—"The Star-Spangled Banner."

This new feature of the program was suggested by Mrs. J. D. Conley, the newly appointed community service chairman, and the first step toward a community singing program. This same committee also held a book drive for the public school library.

Every member had been requested to contribute a suitable book for this library and those who did not remember to bring a book on this occasion were requested to send their contributions—a book or the price of a book—to Mrs. Conley, Mrs. Butler, or Mrs. Lyle.

Mrs. Lyle announced for Mrs. Mayfield that a citizenship study class will be organized soon. This class will meet regularly on the second and fourth Tuesday mornings in each month and will continue for an indefinite period.

Mrs. Strickland of Atlanta will instruct this class for the first time. The executive board of the club will take up the work of celebrating the seventh birthday of Mrs. Frank, Jr.

A contest game was played and the first prize was won by Palmer Dobbs, Jr., while the trophy was awarded W. L. Hardin, Jr.

Mrs. Floyd Is Hostess.

A delightful luncheon was given Friday afternoon by Mrs. J. C. Floyd, at her home on Greenwood avenue, in honor of the teachers of Greenwood school. Mrs. J. C. Malone, president of the Parent-Teacher association, was a charming addition to the party.

The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in all details of the luncheon table, while palms and ferns decorated the living room. The younger daughter of the hostess entertained her mother's guests with several graceful and attractive esthetic dances.

The monthly meeting at department of the Atlanta Woman's club will be held Wednesday, February 28, M. Randall, of the Georgian, will speak on newspaper art. Important business will come before the meeting.

The BPW club of Atlanta will have a luncheon at 1 o'clock Wednesday at the Chamber of Commerce cafe.

The tentative program committee, of which Miss Leona Westbrook, of Atlanta is chairman, is composed of Miss Kate Evans, Atlanta Catholic club; Mrs. Ethel Russell, Bainbridge club; Miss Mendes, Savannah, and ex-officio members of the committee. Miss Catherine Maerz, Atlanta Catholic club, has been appointed chairman of the credentials committee.

Committees Named At Writers' Club. Answering a call issued by Dudley R. Cowles, acting president, a large company of men and women, representative of the various departments of the writing world, met at the City club Friday afternoon to form plans for a larger, more vigorous and progressive Atlanta Writers' club.

The south's greatest poet, Frank L. Stanton, by Miss Mary Brent Whiteside. Interesting and helpful talks made by James A. Holloman, Edw. McKnight, Mrs. Robert Blackburn and J. A. McKnight.

The following committees were appointed by Mr. Cowles: Mr. J. A. Holloman, Miss Mary Brent Whiteside, J. A. McKnight and Miss Ida Melson; on membership, Edw. McKnight, Mrs. E. E. Huesely, Mrs. Edw. McKnight, Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin and Tim Thornton.

A lovely event of Monday evening was the informal recital at the home of Mrs. Frank Mason, in Druid Hills, when Miss Margaret Donald sang before a small group of friends a Stone Mountain song, written and composed by Brooks Mell for the Stone Mountain song contest that is being held under the auspices of the Federation of Music Clubs.

Miss Nan Stephens, president of the southeastern council of Federated Music Clubs, announced that several very worthy songs have already been submitted for the contest.

Fifteen guests composed the first audience to enjoy Mr. Mell's song.

Spiritual Values Are Taught Girl Scouts, Says Mrs. Rippen

BY BESSIE SHAW STAFFORD

The Girl Scout program stands for training a girl for her tasks in life through a home program and proficiency badges which are provided for girl interests. In our machine of civilization the Girl Scouts are promoting spiritual values of life," said Mrs. Jane Decker Rippen, of Atlanta, national director of Girl Scouts, when she spoke at the luncheon given in her honor Monday at the Capitol City Club.

Instead of going out west and fighting for a frontier badge at home and make service your part from wherever Girl Scout troops are formed," she continued. There are about 14,000 leaders giving their entire time to the leadership of girls throughout our country. The name of Girl Guide is applied to this work in England, but in America the Girl Scout is chosen because it bespeakers of the early American traditions," concluded Mrs. Rippen, who is a most forceful, entertaining and magnetic speaker. She told us that she is recognized at once as a leader and friend of girls.

Mrs. Thornton Toastmistress. Mrs. Albert Thornton, in whose home the Atlanta Girl Scout Council was founded, was toastmistress at the luncheon. She has recently been honored by the nominating committee to succeed Mrs. W. C. Johnston, James J. Storrow, of Boston, as vice president of the National Girl Scout Council. This will place a southern woman on the council for the first time in the history of the national council. Mrs. Thornton outlined the history of the Girl Scouts of America, and told of the fact that the Girl Scouts of America, brought the program from England, and it spread from there into a national movement. F. J. Paxson, prominent Atlantian, paid tribute to Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Frank Holland, president of the Atlanta Girl Scout Council, and Miss Corinne Chisolm, director of Atlanta for the Girl Scouts, praising them for their earnest and uplifting service in this work.

Lovely Luncheon. Mrs. Sig Pappenheimer and Mrs. Malcolm Fleming were in charge of the decorations of the exquisitely appointed luncheon. The table of jonquils adorned the center, while silver baskets holding these same spring flowers graced either end and alternated with silver candelabras holding yellow candles. The place cards were figures of Girl Scouts. Covers were laid for Mrs. Rippen, Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Chisolm, Mrs. W. C. Johnston, Alice Conway, of Boston, Mass., regional director; Miss Dorris Hough, also of Boston, Mass., regional secretary; Mrs. W. C. Johnston, regional director; Mrs. J. G. Thompson, regional secretary; Mrs. G. Throner, Mrs. William Arnold, Mrs. Sigmund Pappenheimer, Mrs. S. Y. Turner, Mrs. W. C. Tentative Program Is Announced For Convention

Bainbridge, Ga., February 26.—(Special).—A tentative program for the fifth annual convention of the Federated Business and Professional Women's club, which has been arranged for April 18 to 20, Atlanta, Ga., with headquarters at the Wincoff hotel. The opening session of the convention will be held at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium Wednesday morning, April 18, at 8 o'clock. Governor Hardwick will deliver the address of welcome, and the response will be made by Miss Mamie Merrill, of Thomasville, Ga., national vice president for Georgia of the Federated Business and Professional Women's club.

Addresses will be made also by a representative of the Atlanta Business and Professional Women's club—the hostess club, and Alfred Newell, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. The state president, Miss Dora Mendes, of Savannah, will make the annual address.

The principal speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Elizabeth Sears, New York, editor of The Independent Woman. The federation will feature the song "God Save the King," by Mrs. Spole Lyons, Atlanta. During this first evening the presidents of the state organizations will be introduced and each asked for a two-minute talk. Wednesday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock, registration of delegates, and at 6 o'clock, general session at Convention hall with Miss Merrill presiding. This will be club mechanics discussion. Miss Clemmie Patton, of Dublin, Ga., club vice president, from the Valdosta club, will speak on finances, and Miss Stella Akin, of Savannah, will follow with a talk on dues and attendance. At 10 o'clock will be held the first general business session at Convention hall. Miss Dora Mendes, of Savannah, presiding. A three-minute report by all officers and chairmen of all standing committees will be made. Then a talk by Dr. Charles D. Williamson, of Washington, D. C., on "The Desert Region," will be given.

The next business session, Friday morning, at 9 o'clock at the Atlanta Athletic country club will commence with a report of the executive committee and be followed with a report by the president of each federated club on the two out-standing things accomplished by the club during the year. Then in order will come unfinished business, election of officers and invitation for the 1924 conference and a report of the committee on resolution of thanks. Following adjournment the new executive board will meet after lunch at the call of the president. Several social entertainments are planned by the Atlanta club; lunch Thursday, by the Atlanta Catholic Business and Professional Women's club; later, auto ride to Stone Mountain, followed by a tea at the Atlanta Woman's club by the club. At night a banquet will be given in the Atlanta Woman's club and on Friday a lunch at the Atlanta Athletic Country club.

The tentative program committee, of which Miss Leona Westbrook, of Atlanta is chairman, is composed of Miss Kate Evans, Atlanta Catholic club; Mrs. Ethel Russell, Bainbridge club; Miss Mendes, Savannah, and ex-officio members of the committee. KEEPS BOY'S HAIR COMBED

Mother! Boy's Hair Stays Combed, Well-Groomed

Few Cents Buys Jar any Drugstore. Not Sticky, Greasy or Smelly

"Hair-Groom" keeps any boy's unruly or stubborn hair combed, either straight-back or parted. As the boy's hair is combed in the morning, so it stays all day. If applied after a shampoo, the hair can be combed as neatly and as easily as before. "Cow-licks" stay down.

Greaseless—Does not stain pillow. Hair-Groom is a dignified combing cream which is quickly absorbed; therefore does not show on the hair. It leaves the hair glossy and lustrous but not sticky. Fine for hair!

Nothing else gives a boy or man more dignity than neatly combed well-groomed hair. Millions of women buy "Hair-Groom" for their boys also for their husbands.—(adv.)

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo. This is pure and entirely greaseless. It is very clean and does not leave any oil on the scalp. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonsful of Mulsified in a cup of water with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified coconut oil shampoo into the hair. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and is soft and looks like silk. It is bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your drugstore sells Mulsified.—(adv.)

Thurlow Lieceur To Give Recital At Woman's Club

Music dealers are saying that the most popular song in the world today is "The Waters of Minnetonka," by the Waters of Minnetonka, but it is the popularity of the song, and this is likely to increase as it spreads into other countries. The popularity of the song in England is beginning, but is spreading rapidly.

This, however, is only one of the beautiful Indian songs of Thurlow Lieceur, composer-pianist, whose recital in song, story and legend of the American Indian will be a distinctive musical event of Wednesday afternoon, at the Atlanta Woman's Club, under the auspices of the Atlanta Music Club.

In his program here, Lieceur will present a varied and attractive selection of his compositions. He will sing them, and trace their relationship to the tribal customs and characteristics of the Indians from whom they came. He will sing, "The deep, cool shadows of the primitive forest. Then sing the music of the crystal water. It is a land of laughter that is filled with tears. It is the native birth of the first Americans."

Benson Freeman Is Dinner Host.

One of the interesting events of today evening was a dinner in honor of Benson Freeman, given by Benson Freeman at his home in Boulevard Park.

The long table was attractively decorated with the frater's colors, black and gold. A theater party followed the dinner.

Greenwood P. T. A. Hears Atlantan On Timely Subject

At the regular meeting of the Greenwood P. T. A., on Friday afternoon, February 23, the speaker was Dr. Blanch Lovridge, of Elizabeth Mather college, who gave a talk which will be long remembered by her hearers, as it touched the fundamentals of the lives of all mothers. "Mental Development" was her subject, and she spoke of the need of parent-teacher associations to help elevate the women of America and to stem the tide of inefficiency which is increasing in places.

In speaking of the necessary study period at home, she urged: First, that that time should be free of interruption and of any outside thoughts; second, that there should be a systematic, definite time of study, having a parent's help, and said that "All mothers should keep at least an intelligent tab on what her children are trying to do."

Thought, she said, is the most powerful influence in the world, and children should be taught that to quiet their minds for just a moment before the study period and to develop a spirit of thankfulness brings marvelous returns both mentally and physically. She urged the mothers to do their share toward elevating society and improving the thoughts of the community by the influence of their own minds.

Three pupils of Miss Peacock's first grade, Harry Crosswell, Zelma Peixoto and Charles Shepard, entertained the mothers with a Mother Goose sketch which was very much enjoyed. The president, Mrs. J. C. Malone, announced a parent-teacher state convention in April. Upon motion it was voted to give $25 toward the entertainment fund of the convention.

The next meeting of the association will be held at the Druid Hills Methodist Sunday school, the date depending upon the speaker, who will be Professor W. A. Sutton, and when the Sunday school room would be available. Parents will be notified as to the date and a special invitation will be extended to the fathers.

Miss Tidwell, of the fifth grade, and Miss Vaughn, of the third grade, who have just recently taken charge of these additional classes at Greenwood school, were made welcome.

Miss Effie Albright, the principal, in a charming talk, thanked the mothers for their help in making the banking system a success and their cooperation in securing a better attendance.

Confessions of a Debutante

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY.

Larry, a man who dances well. His wife, Mrs. Larry, shows me the folly of my action. I return home on the eve of my announcement party and go on with the engagement to Jonathan, knowing that I love Larry.

My stranger, a penniless youth, who stung to my coming out party, told me that, but whose name I do not know. After definitely giving my stranger up I start having my "fines" which ends in a dinner with a married man whose wife appears and makes a scene. Mrs. Larry takes me.

INSTALLMENT NO. 33.

"You must give up your playing with love," Mrs. Larry went on. She was still sitting on my bed and was looking at me thoughtfully, "and settle down to things."

"By things I mean—just that fine furniture, handsome household appointments, motors, clothes! That is all there is left to the woman who marries for money. It is her choice. She must abide by it or wreck every one who comes in touch with her."

"Sounds cruel, doesn't it? But it isn't half as cruel as it would be for you to go on as you've started."

"No—I suppose not." I was rolling and unrolling the pink satin ribbon at the neck of my night gown. I felt that some sort of a promise regarding my future conduct was expected of me but making it at just that time would have seemed theatrical and simple.

"This is one little incident—nothing!" She snapped her fingers. "It will have been forgotten by even the Mahons by next week. But you can't go on as you are! It—it's madness!"

Tomorrow—Mrs. Larry uses her tact. (Copyright, 1923, for The Constitution.)

Mrs. Crichton Is Honor Guest.

An interesting event of Monday afternoon was the bridge-tee at which Mrs. Gus Redding entertained at her home on Juniper street in honor of her mother, Mrs. Logan Crichton. Spring flowers decorated the rooms. The guests were: Mrs. Fielder, Mrs. Crichton, Mrs. E. D. Kennedy and her guest, Mrs. Steele; Mrs. Turner Fitter, Mrs. D. B. Osburn, Mrs. Lewis Fallout, Mrs. R. J. Redding, Mrs. Annie Adair Foster and Mrs. A. J. Poole.

College Park Music Club to Meet.

The College Park Music-Study club will hold its regular semi-monthly meeting Wednesday, February 28, at the Masonic temple at 3 o'clock. Miss Blanche Roberts is program chairman for the afternoon. She has arranged a most attractive program for this occasion. The club will study Atlanta composers at this time and their productions will be presented by artists on this program.

Miss Colwell Presents Pupils in Recital.

Miss Irene Colwell, one of Atlanta's most gifted readers and teacher of expression and dramatic art, will present a number of her pupils in a recital on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Grove Park Methodist church.

Those taking part in the recital will be: Miss Grace Leflow, Miss Martha Carmichael, Miss Virginia Carmichael, Miss Mary Carmichael, Miss Mary Lichtenwalter, Miss Helen Malsby, Miss Margaret Mayo, Miss Margaret Ritch, Miss Julia Ritch, Miss Mary Gann, Miss Eva Foler, Miss Mary Bennett, Miss Frances Deariso, Master Troy Bledsoe and Master Jack Malsby. The public is cordially invited.

Mothers' Class To Meet Today.

The Mothers' class of the First Baptist Sunday school will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Middleton at 209 East North avenue.

The executive board will meet promptly at 2:30, business of importance to be transacted. A delightful program has been arranged by the social committee, and every mother is requested to be present.

The Slipper Heel is gracefully shaped to a narrow, low point—inconspicuous, but designed to take care of the constant rub, rub of the shoe.

The Marvelstripe just below the knee is barely noticeable, yet extremely effective in preventing runs from extending to the ankle and ruining the hose.

Pure Dye Ingrain means the dye is not "loaded," thus preventing the usual rotting, and assuring, as far as possible for silk hose, the most satisfactory wear.

"The Little Nugget"

BY P. G. WODEHOUSE

Next Week, "The Sea Bride"
By Ben Ames Williams

"On everything except that," I said. "I'm a mine of information. I haven't the least idea where he went. All I know about him is that he has a shoulder like a battleship, and that he charged me with it."

As I was speaking I thought I heard a little gasp behind me.

"I was lighting my pipe when I heard a scream," said the Little Nugget. "You bet I screamed! What would you do if you woke up in the dark and found a strong armed round neck poking you out of bed as if you were a clam?"

He chuckled and drew at his cigarette.

"How dare you smoke? Throw away that cigarette!" cried Mr. Abner.

"Forget it!" advised the Little Nugget.

"And then," I said, "somebody whizzed out from nowhere and hit me. And after that I didn't seem to care much about him or anything else. I expect you can tell us what happened, Mrs. Sheridan."

Her first words were enough. I knew the voice.

"Somebody ran past me," I hardly heard her. My heart was pounding, and a curious dizziness had come over me. I was standing on the edge of the incredible. "I think he went into the bushes."

In the general movement White must have raised the lamp or stopped forward, for the rays shifted and I was aware of two large eyes looking into mine as, in the gray London morning two weeks ago, they had looked from a faded photograph.

IX.

Of all the emotions which kept me awake that night, a vague discomfort and a feeling of resentment against fate, more than against any individual, were the two that remained with me next morning.

And my resentment had deepened. Fate had played me a wanton trick. Cynthia trusted me. If I were weak I should not be the only one to suffer; and something told me that I should be weak.

But I would fight, I told myself. My opportunity came after breakfast. She was standing on the gravel in front of the house, almost, in fact, on the spot where we had met the night before. She looked up as she heard my step, and I saw that her chin had determined tilt which, in the days of our engagement, I had often noticed without attaching any particular significance to it. However, what a ghostly hint of conspiracy I must have been in those days!

"Good morning," I said.

"Good morning," she said.

There was a pause. I took the opportunity to collect my thoughts. Five years had left their mark on her, but entirely for the good. She had an air of quiet strength, which I had never noticed in her before.

A slight flush crept into her pale cheeks as I observed her.

"Don't," she said suddenly, with a little gesture of irritation, as if they had been a blow, a kind of sentimental tenderness which had been stealing over me.

"What are you doing here?" I asked. "Please don't think I want to put you into my affairs. I was only interested in the determined tilt that we should meet here like this."

She turned to me impulsively. Her face had lost its hard look.

"Oh, Peter," she said, "I'm sorry. I am sorry."

I was my chance. "Sorry?" I said, politely puzzled. "Why?"

She looked taken aback, as I hoped she would.

"For—what happened?"

"My dear Audrey, anybody would have made the same mistake. I don't wonder you took me for a burglar. I didn't mean that. I meant—five years ago."

I laughed. "Surely you're not worrying yourself about that!" I said. "I thought you would get over it," she replied.

"Well," I said, "I was only 25. One's heart doesn't break at 25."

"I don't think yours would ever be likely to break, Peter. You were not human enough to be heartbroken."

"I must have been a curious sort of man five years ago."

"You were. But I didn't mean to hurt your feelings. You were very kind, sometimes—when you happened to think of it."

Considered as the best she could find to say of me, it was not a eulogy.

"Well," I said, "we needn't discuss what I was or did five years ago. Whatever I was or did, you escaped. Let's think of the present. What are you going to do about this?"

"You think the existing situation is embarrassing?"

"I do."

"One of us ought to go, I suppose," she said doubtfully.

"Exactly."

"Well, I can't go."

"Nor can I."

"It's absolutely necessary that I should be here."

"And that I should."

"But why must it be embarrassing?" You said yourself you had—got over it."

"Absolutely. I am engaged to be married."

She gave a little start. She drew a pattern on the gravel with her foot before she spoke.

"I congratulate you," she said at last.

"Thank you. How in the world did you come to be here?"

"It's rather a long story. After my husband died—"

"Oh!" I exclaimed, startled.

"Yes, he died three years ago. I have been looking after myself for a long time. We went to New York. I only returned to England a few weeks ago."

"But what brought you to Sanstead?"

"Some years ago I got to know Mr. Ford, the father of the little boy who is at the school. He recommended me to Mr. Abner, who wanted somebody to help with the school."

"And you are dependent on your work?" Mr. Sheridan did not ask.

"What was he?" I burst out.

"He was an artist—friend of my father. And so—well, here we are."

"Here we are!" I echoed. "Exactly!"

The bell rang for breakfast. We turned.

"Peter," she said, "let's be sensible. Why should we let this embarrass us? Let's just go to breakfast together here. Can't we just pretend we're two old friends?"

"Old friends," I said.

"And then we went in to breakfast. On the table beside my plate was a letter from Cynthia."

I gave the letter in full:

"Monaco Harbor.

"My dear Peter: Where is Ogden? Mrs. Ford is worrying herself to death. Surely, with the opportunities you must get every day, you can manage to kidnap him. Do be quick! In haste, 'CYNTHIA.'"

After dinner that night, in order to avoid an allusion upon this brief and business-like communication, I wandered in the direction of the village.

I was midway between house and village when I became aware that I was being followed. I turned sharply and began to walk back on tiptoe. A moment later a dark figure loomed up out of the darkness, and the exclamation which greeted me showed I had taken him by surprise.

"What are you following me for?" I demanded. "Who are you?"

"Say, I want a talk with you, Sam. I'm wise to your game, sport."

I had identified him. This must be the man I had seen at the Feathers. "I haven't the faintest idea what you mean," I said. "What is your game?"

"Aw, quit yer kiddin'! I know you, lo."

"What do you mean by saying that you know me?"

"Aw, quit yer kiddin', Sam!"

"Tell me, who do you think I am?"

"You can't string me, sport. Smooth Sam Fisher is who you are, bo. I know you. There ain't but you and your bunch and me and my bunch that knows de Little Nugget's on dis side at all. Der sneaked him out of New York mighty slick. So quit yer kiddin', Sam, and let's get down to business."

"Have I the pleasure of addressing Mr. Buck MacGinnis?" I said.

"Dat's right. There's no need to keep up anythin' wit me, Sam. We're both on de same trail, so let's get down to it."

"One moment," I said. "Would it surprise you to hear that my name is Burns?"

"Gee, no!" he said. "It's just what you would be, Sam. Say, it's mighty smart of you to be a perfessor."

His voice became appealing. "Say Sam, don't be a hawk! Let's go fifty-fifty in dis deal. Old man Ford! I cough up enough for everyone, and here don't be any fuss. Fifty-fifty. Does dat go?"

"I don't know," I said. "You had better ask the real Sam. Good night!"

"Sam!" His voice lost its appealing tone and rasped menacingly. "If I had me canister, you wouldn't be so slip! We'll fix you! Youse had best watch out."

I stopped, and turned on him.

"Look here, you fool," I cried. "I tell you I am not Sam Fisher. Can't you understand that you have got" hold of the wrong man? My name is Burns—Burns."

He expected—scornfully, this time.

"Tell it to Sweeney! Maybe you'll say youse ain't trailin' de Nugget, huh?"

It was a bone thrust. Quite against me, will, I hesitated. Observant Mr. MacGinnis perceived my hesitation.

"All right, you Sam, you wait! We'll fix you, and fix you good!"

And with these words he slid off into the night.

CHAPTER XI.

White, the butler, looking singularly unlike a detective—which, I suppose, is how a detective wants to look—was riding the air on the football field when I left the house next morning for a before-breakfast stroll.

"White," I said, "do you know anything of Smooth Sam Fisher? I met a gentleman of the name of Buck MacGinnis—he was our visitor this night, by the way—and he was full of Sam. Do you know him?"

"Buck?"

"Well, I've never seen Buck, but I've heard a good deal about him. There's pepper to Buck. And Sam?"

"So I should imagine. And Sam?"

"You may take it from me that there's more pepper to Sam's little finger than there is to Buck's whole body. Buck's just a common rough-neck. Sam's got brains."

"So I gathered. Well, I'm glad to hear you speak so well of him, because that's who I'm supposed to be."

"How's that?"

"Buck MacGinnis insists that I am Smooth Sam Fisher."

"Well, what do you know about that?" he exclaimed. "Wouldn't that jar you?"

"It would. I may say it did. He called me a hog for wanting to keep the Little Nugget to myself, and left threatening to fix me. What would you say the very 'to fix' signifies in Mr. MacGinnis' vocabulary?"

"He's a wonder!" he observed. "Taking you for Smooth Sam Fisher?"

"He said he had never seen Smooth Sam. Have you?"

"Lord yes."

"Does he look like me?"

"Not a bit."

"Do you think he's over in England just now?"

"Sam? I know he is."

"Then Buck MacGinnis was right?"

"Dead right, as far as Sam being on the trail goes."

"Then why haven't we seen anything of him?"

"Oh, Sam'll show up when he feels good and ready. Sam's a special net of mine. I don't give a flip for Buck MacGinnis."

"But I wish I knew exactly what Buck meant by 'fix.'"

"I guess he'll try to put one over on you with the sandbag," White said carelessly.

McCraw Is Proud of Baseball as a Profession To Prove What Baseball Meant to America, Teams Made Tour Around World

Believing That Players Should Learn From Observation, Veteran Manager Favors Change of Environment

BY JOHN MCGRAW.

Always it has been my ambition to see the profession of baseball elevated, to see it rise higher and higher, to see it become a more dignified and more useful profession. I have seen it rise higher and higher, to see it become a more dignified and more useful profession. I have seen it rise higher and higher, to see it become a more dignified and more useful profession.

Following out this ambition I have made it a point to have players on my club absorb as much information and general polish as possible by observation. It was this that prompted me to make the trip around the world with the White Sox.

I love my profession and am proud of it. Baseball, to my way of thinking, means much more to America than any other game. It has a big influence. Incidentally, I have just learned from a statistician in Washington that crime showed a decided decrease during the world's tour. The White Sox and the Yankees showed a falling off all over the country.

I didn't quite see the connection between the tour and the crime, but I told me that the interest of everybody in the outcome of the series had diverted the minds of young and old from thoughts of crime. Anyway, I fell off during that week remarkably.

Team from Observation.

When I was a young fellow playing for the Orioles, Jennings, Kelley, myself and others made a trip to the other side just to see things. We did not go to play ball—just observe. I was so impressed with what I saw that ever since I have had a desire to have a ball club around the world and show people of the other countries what our great national sport means.

After the world's series in 1912, when I was appearing on the stage the first, last and only time, I met Mr. Hermann, John Bruce, and Charles Comiskey in "Smiley" Corbett's place in Chicago. I had just finished a performance at the Palace.

After a few moments of conversation Comiskey called me over to a table where we could talk alone. "Hello, John," he said, "what do you think of taking our team on a trip around the world?"

This took me back for a moment, but only for a moment. "When would you want to start?" I asked.

"Right after the close of the 1913 season," he said.

"That's all there was to it, Mr. Comiskey, and I began making arrangements shortly afterward. Between us, we financed the entire proposition, and we never had one scrap of paper between us in the way of an agreement. What's more, we made a contract of the world, starting from New York to New York, and ending at New York from London, either of us lost or made a cent. The winner of the tour would be paid.

Ambition Realized.

To describe that trip would make a book in itself. When we finally arrived in New York on the ill-fated Lusitania I felt, though, that my big ambition in life had been realized. We had shown all the other national baseball. They had witnessed games in such numbers as to pay expenses.

To make sure of our finances meeting the cost of travel we played 21 exhibition games on the way to coast, in the United States. On that part of the tour I discovered that a hold baseball really had on the people of America. In some places it did not even boast of a ball park, but drew as many as four thousand people.

Putting together two teams for this jaunt was a difficult job. Some did not get away from their business, their winter business. Others did not afford to take their families to leave them. By perseverance finally succeeded and made the trip.

Others Help Out.

The late Harry Sparrow acted as business manager. Among other time baseball people along was Sullivan.

In the trip across the United

The freshmen medical five won the opening game of the Emory basketball intercollegiate Monday night over the freshmen liberal arts five. The score of the game was 19 to 18. The sophomore medicals also won over the sophomore liberal arts five in a runaway affair. The final score was 45 to 16.

The freshmen medical five put up a neat passing and guarding game and won out in the final minutes of play when a well placed foul goal placed the meds in the lead.

The game was nip and tuck from the very beginning and at the end of the half the score was tied 10 all. All during the game neither team had any decided advantage over the other and only in the closing minutes was the game won. It was witnessed by a large crowd of university students and all seemed pleased with the results.

Jack Kaufman with 13 points to his credit played best for the winners. He followed the ball closely all the time. Logan and Stovall played good defense for the losers. Logan scoring 6 of the 18 points.

The sophomore medicals had a better scoring ability than the freshmen and easily eliminated the liberal arts five. The score of the game was 45 to 16. The game was fast despite the large scoring. White and Lester were the stars on the offense with 18 and 14 points respectively. Walker and Peters played best for the losers.

The players represented all sizes and heights. To have seen the array as it gathered in the lobbies of the hotels would have been to realize that size was not height, nor any physical attribute is criterion in the making of a basketball team. There were plenty of short ones, and a sprinkling of oversized men, but the masses of the players were of medium height and build.

Uniform in Size.

L. S. U. has the most uniform team that was encountered yesterday. There is not two inches difference in height, nor 15 pounds in weight between the tallest and the shortest, and the lightest and the heaviest man on the team. This college seems to specialize on converting football men into basketball players. Four of the eight men registered were letter men on the football team. Three men were in the backfield and one man played end.

Helms, a halfback on the football team and captain of the basketball team, did not make the trip. He is a badly wrenched leg in the Tulane game and the coach thought it advisable to leave him at home. He is also a good track man and the coach did not wish to take the chance of ruining his leg for track. Stephens plays forward on the basketball team and end on the football team. McFarland, guard and quarterback; Kiser, forward and quarterback; Jackson, guard and full back. L. S. U. plays Vandy this afternoon.

Tigers in Bad Shape.

Clemson, a team in which Tech is naturally very greatly interested, in view of the fact that Tech is due to meet it, is not in such good shape as might be hoped.

Clemson arrived yesterday morning and went immediately to the hotel. In the early part of the afternoon Coach Stewart took his men to the Athletic club for a workout.

Mills and Garrison are suffering from infected feet. Coach has both boys close to bed ever since getting to Atlanta in the hope that they will be able to make the grade against Centre this afternoon. Colbert, who has been playing center for the last few games had a spell of flu last week and is still weak from the attack. But he will be in the line-up.

Centre "Rarin' to Go."

Centre, the opponent of Clemson and another possibility for Tech, is on the contrary at the peak of its condition. Snowday—it used to be Snoddy—and Covington, two of the players on the Centre football team are here with the basketball team and look fine. Centre worked out yesterday morning. They have a fast working team, and will give Clemson fits and fancies, watch her step, "Red" Roberts is along, but will not play.

Champ Quint Arrives.

The University of North Carolina, under the watchful eye of Coach Bill Fetzner, came in yesterday and as a team they look fine. Cartwright Carmichael, the big ace for North Carolina, was confined to his bed all yesterday, though. It seems that "Cart" had a bad cold, which brought on a hot fever. So, the trainer thought it best to make him stay in bed for the whole of yesterday in effort to break up his cold and cough.

Outside of that, the whole bunch is feeling prime, and ready to fight again for the championship. They're got well built boys and look every bit as good as last year. Four of the men registered this year were in the tournament last year. Carmichael, McDonald, Green and Mahler.

The boys didn't talk much of their chances. They said that they had been blown up too much, and that they did not have an extraordinarily good team. They attributed their long string of unbroken victories to the fact that they have not met many strong teams. But we would call Mercer, Trinity and Washington and Lee fairly strong, just speaking off-hand.

the week evidently indicates that distribution to the trade is continuing at a rapid rate. Stocks are less than last week and when the heavy run begins, price indications are that the price of oil will advance rapidly and will undoubtedly have effect on oil. Last year there was a considerable portion of the time from February on compound sold overboard. It must not be forgotten that the south is the heavy consuming section of the compound, regardless of comparative land prices.

Practically every day of the past week one or more refiners have been in the market for crude at ten cents and the indications is that there will be an acute shortage of oil in the southeast, some predicting Texas oil will be needed to supply the deficiency. Meal continues dull with continued interest from exporters. There was no particular change in the situation regarding lard and hulls during the past week.

"Greenwich Villagers."

(At Loew's Grand.)

"Greenwich Villagers" the top line attraction at Loew's Grand theater for the first half of the week, proved to be all and more than advance reports promised it. A snappy, fast moving miniature musical comedy. A sparkle of Bohemia, with lots of clean, wholesome comedy, bright music, pretty pictures, attractive costumes and a competent company of vaudevilleans. The atmosphere of Greenwich Village is carried through the offering with intelligence. Five talented girls are pleasing in the songs and appropriate dances, with good voices displayed by the principals. The offering also uncovers a comedian with original ideas who kept up the spirit of fun until the very end.

Jarrow, the European conjurer, was a decided hit with all audiences on Monday. His tricks with cards and his lemon rick are well executed, but best of all is his comedy, in fact, the net creates more laughs than any other offering on the bill.

"If I Were Queen."

(At the Rialto.)

Surrounded by her regal splendor that bespeaks lavish expenditure of money, Eubel Clayton gives a brilliant performance in her big super-special production "If I Were Queen," retelling for the first time at the Rialto the story of a queen who was one of the great beauties of the world.

The photoplay is the story of the adventures of an American girl in the imaginary principalities of central Europe. Her story is a tale of high courts and castles.

Thomas Denny gives a splendid rendition of "Gypsy Love Song," as a production at the hours of 4:30, 8:00 and 9:45 p.m. The Rialto also presents this week the first of the New Leader Pushers, "He Raised Kane," featuring Reginald Denny.

Charlie Chaplin.

Forsyth Domestic Comedy

Draws Capacity House

I said goodbye to Walter Chambers hardly five minutes after the final curtain that marked the conclusion of a comedy, the clever play at the Forsyth theater this week, "The Pilgrim," which was added to the program.

Conductor Kisinger's overtures were excerpts from "Bohemian Girl," with Wallace Jackson, the Metropolitan's concertmaster, playing "Then You'll Remember Me." Edward C. G. Richter, cellist, "Heart of a Lion," and Paul Urban, trumpeter, "I Dreamt I Drove in a Car."

"Java Head."

(At the Howard.)

Received with intense satisfaction by the audience, "Java Head," a new George Melford production for Paramount, made a big hit at the Howard theater last night. The story, which is a comedy, is a tale of a man who is a very, very good friend of mine, and seeing him run off to New York to work on the Herald, rather spoiled my evening.

Mr. Littel was a very, very good friend of mine, and seeing him run off to New York to work on the Herald, rather spoiled my evening.

Vote by People

On Amendments

Reaches Senate

Referendum Act on All Constitutional Changes Reported.

Washington, February 26.—A resolution providing for submission of another constitutional amendment to provide for a popular referendum on future constitutional changes, was reported today by the senate judiciary committee.

The committee voted 8 to 1 with Senator Ernest R. Kenyon, Kentucky, the only dissenter, to report the resolution of which Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, was the author.

There was said to be some possibility of action by the senate on the resolution before congress adjourns.

As reported by the committee, the popular referendum on all future constitutional revisions would be accomplished under the following new article to the constitution:

"Article.—The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by three-fourths of the qualified electors in three-fourths of the states, and that, until three-fourths of the states shall have rejected or defeated a proposed amendment, the state in like manner may change its vote: Provided, that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate."

The merger would materially increase the power of Armour & Co., it was stated, to control and dominate the livestock and meat-packing industry.

A hearing was set for Monday, April 2, in Washington before the secretary of agriculture, at which the packers will be required to show cause why an order should not be issued to prevent the consolidation.

Such an order would be subject to appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals at Chicago within thirty days of the date of the order.

Government officials said today there was nothing in the packers and stock raisers' plan to prevent the purchase of Morris & Co., but that if the government was upheld in the case of the Armour company, it would be a matter of time before the Morris plan was defeated.
